

Defense Cannot Wait for Attack, Stimson Asserts

Thinks British-Held Americas May Be Made Future War Front

Washington—(P)—The senate military committee approved today President Roosevelt's nomination of Henry L. Stimson to be secretary of war.

The vote of 14 to 3 came after Stimson had testified for two hours regarding his qualifications and had declared that his nomination "had no relation to politics" and that he had not discussed the question of a third term with President Roosevelt.

Voting against the favorable committee report on Stimson were senators Thomas (R-Idaho), Johnson (D-Colo.) and Lundeen (F-L-Minn.).

Members of the committee who voted to recommend confirmation were Sheppard (D-Texas), Reynolds (D-N.C.), Thomas (D-Utah), Minton (D-Ind.), Lee (D-Okla.), Schwartz (D-Wyo.), Downey (D-Calif.), Slattery (D-Ill.), Chandler (D-Ky.), Smathers (D-N.J.), Austin (R-Vt.), Bridges (R-N.H.), and Gurney (R-S.D.).

A motion by Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) to summon former Secretary of War Woodring was defeated, 11 to 5. Johnson has said he wanted to know whether Woodring was cleared because he declined to approve the transfer to the allies of American military equipment.

Woodring believed essential to national defense.

The committee voted 11 to 7 on a motion by Senator Thomas (R-Idaho) to write Woodring and inform him that if he desired to appear the committee would be glad to hear him.

Washington—(P)—Henry L. Stimson, President Roosevelt's nominee for secretary of war, told the senate military committee today he did not believe "that we sit down and wait for the enemy to come to our shores."

Stimson, a Republican, testified regarding his qualifications for the war secretaryship while the senate military committee started a hearing on the selection of Frank Knox, 1936 Republican vice presidential nominee, to be secretary of the navy.

Stimson testified his nomination "had no relation to politics" and that he had not discussed the third-term question with the president.

Knox told the naval committee that he had accepted his appointment by President Roosevelt to be secretary of the navy without asking any expression from the president regarding a third term.

Politics Not Mentioned

The two men testified at hearings demanded by Republicans and some Democrats who asked an expression of their views on the question whether the United States should intervene in the European war.

Stimson said the president had telephoned him at his New York office June 19 and had asked him to take the war department position "as a call to duty."

"The position had absolutely no relation to politics," Stimson said, "and I agreed with him."

"Nothing was said about a third term," asked Senator Johnson (D-Colo.).

"No," Stimson replied, "nothing has ever been said about a third term."

Knox, in answer to questions by Senator Ellender (D-La.) said the president first offered him the navy post last November or December but that he declined it then. He testified that he later agreed to take it when the surrender of France

Drag Lake in Search For Madison Resident

Madison—(P)—Madison police were dragging Lake Wingra today for the body of Ernest Haeffner, 36, a baker, who was believed to have drowned.

Haeffner went fishing yesterday and failed to return. His boat was found floating near shore last night.

Carp seiners employed by the state conservation department recovered the body of Fred Hintz, 37, who drowned while swimming in Lake Waubesa Saturday.

Speeds Training Course for New Officers in FBI

Washington—(P)—J. Edgar Hoover—charged with spying out spies and fighting "fifth columnists"—ordered aids today to telescope the finishing process for G-men.

Concentrating the three months training course of the federal bureau of investigation into a tough seven-weeks regimen, he plans to put hundreds of new agents into the field.

The new training course scheduled—one aspect of the "defense basis" on which the G-men are working now—will be aided by moving the famous G-men's training school to the marine base at Quantico.

There the young lawyers and accountants who join the FBI will sleep in barracks and eat in mess halls.

Hours between bed and meals will be filled with training in firearms, fingerprinting, arrest techniques, raiding and road blocking, jui jitsu, handling of evidence, law, public speaking and gym.

Bicyclist Is Killed By Car

Struck By Auto of Hit-and-Run Driver, Witness Tells Police

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh—Albert Solis, 38, route 2, Neenah, was killed instantly by a hit-and-run driver when he fell from his bicycle to the pavement after colliding with a stopped car about 10 o'clock last night on Highway 150, two miles west of Neenah.

Solis, a Mexican, was riding his bicycle west and Holger Skafte, Winchester, who witnessed the accident, was driving east. Skafte told Winnebago county police he noticed the cyclist was weaving along the highway so he stopped his car to avoid hitting him. Solis came on and collided with Skafte's stopped machine and fell to the pavement, police were told.

Skafte said that while Solis was lying on the pavement, a car traveling west at high speed ran over his inert body and did not stop. Skafte called an ambulance and Winnebago police from a nearby farmhouse.

Solis suffered a skull fracture, a broken left collar bone, broken left leg, wrist and arm.

Dr. G. A. Steele, Winnebago county coroner who investigated with police, has not set the date for the inquest.

Survivors are the widow, three daughters, Celia, Mary and Lupe, at home; five step children, Lena Gonzales, Faustina Gonzales, Ysidro Gonzales, Jaunita Gonzales, at home; and John Gonzales, Park Falls.

The body is at the Sorensen Funeral home, Neenah.

British Report Four Italian U-Boats and Destroyer Are Sunk

Cairo—(P)—Four Italian submarines and a destroyer were reported today to have been sunk by British air forces ranging over the Near East from Sicily to the Ethiopia-Kenya frontier.

The submarines were sunk in the eastern Mediterranean between June 27 and June 29 and the destroyer, the Espero, on June 27, a naval communiqué said. (Italy yesterday acknowledged loss of the Espero, a 1,073-ton warship of the "Turbine" class.)

Forty-four survivors were picked up from the destroyer, it announced, adding that "unofficially it is understood there were some survivors from the submarines who were rescued."

Forfeited Citizenship in U. S. In Joining Canadian Army

Montreal—(P)—A United States board of inquiry ruled here today that Philip Steger, 28, of Washington, D. C., had forfeited his United States citizenship by joining the Canadian Active Service Force.

The board refused him permission to return to his native country. Steger said he believed his case may have set a precedent for hundreds of other United States citizens who gave oaths of allegiance to King George when they joined the C.A.S.F.

Steger enlisted in the C.A.S.F. last February and was honorably discharged last week after old injuries made it physically impossible for him to continue service.

WILLKIE QUILTS UTILITY — Wendell L. Willkie (right), Republican presidential candidate, and his secretary, Fred Rohter, clean out Willkie's desk as the latter returned to his office in New York for his last day's work as president of the Commonwealth and Southern Utilities company.

Committee of 3 May Head Willkie Drive

New York—(P)—A new type of setup for a national political campaign was under consideration today by Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee for president, who was reported to be ready to name a committee of three men to head his activities.

One man, it was understood, would be the national chairman of the party, and a third Willkie's personal representative.

Willkie himself declined to discuss the situation at a morning press conference. But it was considered likely one of the three men would be John D. M. Hamilton, present head of the Republican national committee, and another, Russell Davenport, former managing editor of Fortune who quit his job to work for Willkie's nomination.

Davenport was with Willkie on the weekend yacht trip following the Republican convention and has been described by the nominee as a man "who has my confidence."

Willkie said he had made no choice of a man to handle his campaign, and added:

"I am looking for that man now. He must be a strong, vigorous man with organizing ability and he may be a business man, a newspaperman or a politician."

"But he must know his way around."

The candidate breakfasted today with Samuel Pryor, national committeeman from Connecticut and an early backer of Willkie, and expected to confer again later with Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota.

Asked what part Governor Stassen might play in his campaign Willkie replied:

"As active a part as I can get him to play."

He said he contemplated no difficulty in adjusting his more or less unorthodox campaign methods to those of the regular organization and added he was receiving splendid cooperation on all sides.

Willkie said he hoped to see Senator McNary, the vice presidential

Research Body Scans Records

Beverage Tax Division Submits Reports After Madison Conference

Madison—(P)—Governor Heil today intervened in the dispute between the research bureau and the beverage tax division of the state treasury over liquor stamp purchases, calling for "sworn statements" from all officials involved.

"The stories that went out saying we were negligent in ordering liquor revenue stamps were falsehoods," the governor said. "But that is all I can say right now. I am getting sworn statements from our officials so we get the truth. We want the truth to go out to the public."

Madison—(P)—Liquor stamp records of the beverage tax division of the state treasury department were scrutinized today by the research bureau.

Balked in a previous attempt to subpoena certain files of the division, James Fornary, research counsel, obtained them yesterday following a conference with State Treasurer John M. Smith and John Roach, beverage tax chief.

Explaining that the situation was brought about by a disagreement over the purchase of liquor stamps, Smith said:

"There have been stories that there has been a shortage of liquor stamps. If that is so, we are going to fix the blame wherever it belongs. We have no quarrel with the research department. All of our records are open to the public anyway."

Although Fornary declined to say whether he contemplated an investigation of the beverage tax division similar to that being conducted in the conservation department, he said he would study the records for several days and then make recommendations to August Frey, research director.

Roach said last Thursday he had "run out" of stamps on three occasions during the last year, adding that stamps were purchased only with Frey's approval.

Signs Bill to Guard U. S. Defense Secrets

Washington—(P)—President Roosevelt signed into law today a bill authorizing the commissioner of patents to keep secret all inventions affecting national defense.

If the commissioner decides the disclosure of an invention would be detrimental to public safety or defense he may withhold the granting of a patent to the inventor for an indefinite period. Army and navy officials are given immediate access to pending patents.

Relieved of the pin, Lundgren expects to leave the hospital today.

Hungary Mobilizing but Peace Outlook Brightens

German Press Hails Action At Bucharest

Sees End of British Influence As Carol Discards Guarantees

Berlin—(P)—The German press interpreted Rumania's renunciation of French-British guarantees as a death blow to Britain's influence in southeastern Europe.

The Lokal Anzeiger described British political moves in the south-east as "an awful fiasco and a warning to all peoples," adding, however:

"But who needs to be warned of England today?"

(The British and French first gave guarantees to Poland, then to Rumania and Greece and later, after war began, completed a mutual assistance pact with Turkey.) After Italy entered the war on Germany's side, Turkey decided to remain out of the conflict.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung termed Rumania's action a "liquidation" of Britain in southeastern Europe.

Threatened England

Generally, the press continued to print threats against England while expressing satisfaction over Rumania's move into the axis sphere of influence.

Adolf Hitler's Volkischer Beobachter referred to destruction of the French port of Dunkerque in comment on Neville Chamberlain's broadcast speech Sunday night in which he denied any appeasement aims.

The newspaper said:

"Chamberlain has not considered what England would look like after an entirely hopeless fight like that. Dunkerque would be a mere shadow compared with England..."

Informed Germans took the position the Nazi occupation of two British island possessions—Jersey and Guernsey—did not strengthen the offensive position against Britain to any great extent but viewed it as a sign of weakness on Britain's part.

Buy Norwegian Fish

The authoritative commentary, Dienst Aus Deutschland, said British withdrawal from the islands showed "the English are no longer capable of protecting these islands in the channel with their air force."

The commentary said another counter-blockade move had been consummated by signing of an agreement for purchase of Norwegian fish—described as the biggest deal in the history of the Norwegian fishing industry. No figures were given.

British air attacks over the Netherlands were particularly heavy Sunday night, DNB, official German news agency, announced, listing 13 persons as killed and many injured. The agency said Rotterdam harbor presumably was the objective but that many explosives struck recently re-built dwellings.

Badger Delegates to Democratic Parley Plan Meeting July 14

Shtoyagan—(P)—Wisconsin's delegates to the Democratic national convention will meet Sunday evening, July 14, at the Bismarck hotel in Chicago to nominate convention officers, C. E. Broughton, national committeeman, said today.

At the same time they will elect two members for four year terms on the national committee.

The conference of delegates will be held following a banquet for delegates and alternates to be given by Broughton and Mrs. Louise Givan of Milwaukee, national committeewoman.

Broughton said the delegates also would make recommendations for convention committee appointments.

Prairie du Chien —(P)—

William D. Carroll, state chairman, today invited delegates to the Democratic national convention to meet Saturday in Fond du Lac to select convention committee members.

Carroll said labor, farm and business groups would submit their legislative proposals for possible incorporation in the national and state platforms.

Extend Blockade To French Ports

Colonies Not Yet Affected; Nazi Planes Raid Britain

London—(P)—Germany's great naval base at Kiel and towns in northwestern Germany were attacked by British bombing planes last night, the air ministry announced today.

London—(P)—Five persons were killed tonight in a German air-raid in the northeast of England. A high explosive bomb damaged houses and a school.

London—(P)—Britain's blockade has been applied to French ports to prevent goods from reaching Germany but has been deferred against French colonies pending clarification of their status. Hugo Dalton, minister of economic warfare, informed the house of commons today.

Clement R. Attlee, lord privy seal and Prime Minister Winston Churchill's lieutenant in commons, said that Dalton would make a further statement on the blockade in a secret session if the members desired it.

Sir John Anderson, minister of home security, said the government believed that "in order to defeat the efforts of the enemy to dislocate production in war industries, workers engaged in war production should continue at work after public air-raid warnings until it is clear that enemy attack is actually imminent in that locality."

Cautions on Alarms

The air command, he said, would be cautious about sounding air raid alarms to "avoid unnecessary and undue interference with civil life."

Orderly dispersal of the population is part of ordinary defense policy, Attlee declared, but he said "panic evacuation was opposed."

After War Secretary Anthony Eden had told the house that Czech and Polish soldiers were being reorganized to continue the fight against Germany, Attlee announced

Nazis Report On Casualties

Set Total Losses in Western Drive Since May 10 at 156,492

Berlin—(P)—The German high command hailed the Nazi triumph in France tonight as the greatest military victory of all times and attributed it not only to superior arms and generalship but also to the unity of the whole German nation under national socialism.

It listed these German losses from May 10, when the western offensive began: Killed—27,074; wounded—111,934 and missing—18,384.

These make total German casualties of 156,492.

Against this it listed more than 1,900,000 French captives, among them 28,000 officers.

This information was contained in a long, detailed memorandum on the German campaign in France, explaining how various operations were conducted and what generals were in charge.

Characterization of the western campaign as the greatest military victory in history and acclaim for Nazi arms, generalship and cohesion were part of a three-page conclusion.

Milwaukee County Now Has 765,480 Residents

Milwaukee—(P)—Milwaukee county's population now totals 765,480, compared with the 1930 figure of 725,263, William N. Stiefel, census area manager, said today.

The county agricultural census revealed 1,882 farms in Milwaukee county, compared with 1,833 in 1935, and 2,187 in 1930.

Heil Wants Reds Out Of Badger University

Madison—(P)—A drive to "get the reds out" of the University of Wisconsin was announced by Governor Heil today.

Asserting "we don't want students that other schools don't want," the governor said he would call on the board of regents to have every student at the university express his belief or disbelief in "Americanism and American principles."

"We are going to ask all students whether or not they believe in our democracy," the governor said. "We have got to get the reds out. If other schools don't want them, we don't either."

Details of the plan, he said, would be left to the regents.

"I am going to put the matter up to the regents. They are good that the government was giving urgent attention to encouragement of French forces able and willing to continue fighting.

Britain counted 12 persons killed and 22 injured today in German bombing raids over widely-separated parts of the British Isles.

The fatalities and wounding of 18 occurred in an attack on a north-east Scottish town; four persons were wounded in the Bristol channel area.

On the brighter side for the British was a report that at least part of the details remained secret—of the French fleet had been saved for the allied cause.

General Charles de Gaulle, French officer who refused to accept France's capitulation to Germany, named 58-year-old Vice Admiral Muselier last night as commander of "all free French naval

U. S. Now Has Biggest Navy, Figures Show

Already Tops Others Both in Tonnage and Total Number of Ships

Washington—(P)—Official figures indicated today that the United States navy, building at top speed toward "two-ocean" strength, already has become the world's largest both in number of ships and in total tonnage.

Not counting the $500,000,000 of new warships ordered by the navy yesterday and nearly 100 other vessels under construction, Uncle Sam has 395 completed combat ships of 1,327,320 tons.

Latest available figures on the British navy give its strength on June 20 as 313 ships of 1,277,189 tons. These figures are admittedly inexact, but they take into consideration the best information obtainable on losses suffered in Europe's war.

The $500,000,000 new warship order was the biggest in navy history. It covered 11 cruisers, 20 destroyers, 13 submarines and a large seaplane tender. The contracts were

Many Civilians Leave Hong Kong

Hong Kong—(P)—Military regulations tightened with the exodus of many civilians today from war-menaced Hong Kong.

The American liner President Coolidge, which had been ordered back to this port to take aboard all Americans wishing to leave, sailed for Manila before dawn with hundreds of refugees of all nationalities in addition to its normal passenger load.

British authorities ordered Hong Kong's remaining German and Austrian Jewish refugees to depart by July 7 or be interned. All Italian priests, approximately 65, likewise were told to go, but were allowed until July 28. They probably will move to Catholic missions in the Chinese interior. Italian nuns were not affected by the order.

Authorities hope to remove about 4,500 women and children by July 5. The first shipload of British left yesterday aboard a Canadian Pacific liner.

The urgency with which removal measures are being carried out is interpreted to mean that Britain is determined to resist the Japanese demand for closing of the supply route to China through British Burma, even though this means an attack on Hong Kong.

Tries to Keep Son From R. A. F. Service

Haverford, Pa.—(P)—Unable to contact her husband by cable or telephone, Mrs. George H. Earle, wife of the United States minister to Bulgaria, headed for Washington today to ask the state department's help in dissuading her eldest son from enlisting in the Royal Air Force.

Preparing to leave by train, she said she hoped the department could communicate with Earle, former Pennsylvania governor who announced yesterday at Sofia that their 23-year-old son, George, 6th, would leave there Friday for service in Egypt with the British fighting force.

Expects to Regain Her Lost Areas

Budapest—(P)—Hungary's mobilization went ahead according to plan tonight despite reports that the chances for a peaceful settlement with Rumania over Transylvania had improved.

It appeared obvious that Hungary intends to maintain her war footing until Transylvania is regained in one way or another.

Responsible quarters said the general situation was "unchanged," and they denied reports that demilitarized zone had been created on the Hungarian-Rumanian frontier.

German interest in the troubled situation was indicated by the lengthy conference last night between Foreign Minister Count Istvan Cskay and Otto von Erdmannsdorff, German minister to Hungary, before a session of the Hungarian cabinet.

That strain still exists was indicated, however, by cancellation of the Budapest horse races. This was considered a good barometer since such a step had not been taken since the first days of the World war.

Reports from Sofia indicated the Bulgarian government took a calm view of the situation, with responsible circles confident that some agreement can be reached outside of war.

(The post-World war settlement gave Rumania Transylvania, which Hungary claims. Southern Dobruja, which Bulgaria claims, went to Rumania in 1913, after the Balkan war.)

Hope for Settlement

An official Bulgarian explanation minimized reported frontier incidents between Bulgarian and Rumanian troops and spokesmen emphasized Sofia's desire for peaceful revisionism with world recognition that Bulgaria's claims are just.

A Rumanian diplomatic report at Budapest said apparently concerned Hungarian and Bulgarian attacks against Rumanian frontier posts had occurred simultaneously night and Monday morning.

Some official Rumanian circles said these attacks were a form of pressure on Rumania in Hungary's clamor for return of Transylvania and Bulgaria's demands for return of southern Dobruja.

There were rumors, meanwhile, that Rumania might conclude a military and optical alliance with Germany following her renunciation last night of allied guarantees. These could not be confirmed.

Germany, it was believed in diplomatic quarters, may be offering full military support to Rumania on condition that Rumania make a peaceful adjustment of the Hungarian and Bulgarian claims—with Bucharest in a difficult position to refuse.

Outposts Raided

A number of frontier outposts were attacked by Hungarians with rifles, machine-guns and even artillery, with casualties on both sides, it was reported. At about the same time similar Bulgarian assaults were made against Dobruja outposts, also with casualties.

The situation further was aggravated by a protest from the Hungarian government warning Rumania

American Flier Missing, Report

London—(P)—Acting Flight Lieutenant J. W. E. Davis, 27, a native of Bernardsville, N. J., who was awarded the distinguished flying cross by King George VI on June 24, was reported missing today.

Davis, who joined the British Royal Air Force in 1936 was cited for "ability as a leader of his squadron of many offensive patrols."

In one action, while attacking a German Messerschmitt, Davis was beset by six German Heinkels.

"Davis at once turned on the Heinkels, destroying one and badly damaging another before being compelled to break off the engagement owing to a shortage of ammunition," the citation said.

"The following day, while leading a section of his squadron, he sighted and attacked a large formation of Heinkel 111's and shot down one in flames."

Nazis Strive to Defer Clash With Russians

Red Moves Put Hitler in Awkward Position;
Soviet Revives Ideal of Peter the Great

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York—(AP)—The Russian adventure in the Balkans holds more potentialities than a school-boy's pockets.

Communist chieftain Stalin continues to play his cards close to his chest and thus far has concealed the full nature of his hand. Whatever way you look at it, however, his move patently is inimical to German interests and he has Hitler on an embarrassing spot in view of the impending German assault on England.

It is quite clear that the shrewd Soviet is running counter to German aims in at least three ways. He is jeopardizing Hitler's all-important Balkan war and food supplies. He is invading a peninsula which Germany long has regarded as her special preserve. He is greatly strengthening his strategic position for defense (or offense, for that matter) against the reich.

That war between the bolsheviks and the nazis will grow out of this sooner or later seems like a foregone conclusion. At the moment, however, Hitler is striving to maintain peace.

Must Protect Supplies

He doesn't want trouble with Russia while he is attempting to crush and dismember the British empire. Also, it is vital that he protect his Balkan supplies by preventing a general upheaval there if possible.

This ill wind which is blowing across the reich from Moscow might easily prove to be a good wind for England. About the only adverse effect it could have on Britain would be to force Hitler to speed his attack in an attempt to end the war in the west quickly, to take care of anything that might grow out of the Russian move.

The alternative to a quick onslaught would be an effort to starve England into submission by a blockade about the British isles. That or the conclusion of peace.

In the matter of peace which we have been hearing so much about, while I am not suggesting that it is likely, it does seem like a safe bet that Hitler must have at least paused to consider offering England some sort of terms in view of the Russian development. Should the bolshevik threat become more grave, it wouldn't cause overwhelming surprise if he did indeed say to British Premier Churchill: "You keep what you have and I'll keep mine." The fuhrer could afford such an offer, and it might be tantalizing, though England would be asking for trouble if she accepted.

Anyway, Anglo-German developments will develop in no small degree on what Russia has up her sleeve. This invasion of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina of course cuts a lot deeper than a racial question and the return to Russia of land which she held formerly.

Want Dardanelles Control

For generations Russia has dreamed of driving a path down the Balkan peninsula to Constantinople, to secure control of the Dardanelles and thus dominate this whole area of the eastern Mediterranean. Peter the Great was one of those fostering this idea, but it wasn't until 1812 that the Russians made real headway in their program.

Prior to that they had forced their way southward until they had reached the great Dnieper river, which according to Rumanian tradition God had placed as a boundary between Rumania and Poland. But the Russians had no thought of stopping at the Dnieper, which formed the northern boundary of Bessarabia. They wanted to get through to the river Prut, southern boundary of the province.

The Prut joins the Danube 75 miles from the Black Sea, and control of the Prut also gives control of the mouth of the Danube and a wide stretch of the coast. Domination here would pave the way for the drive down the peninsula to Constantinople.

To realize this dream Russia engaged Turkey in war in 1806, and in 1812 a treaty was signed under which the former got Bessarabia. There matters stood until 1918, just after the World war, when Rumania recovered the province. Now Russia has it back again.

Sunday it was reported that Russia had demanded of Turkey a share in the control of the Dardanelles, giving rise to the belief that the Muscovites had revived the ideal of Czar Peter the Great and were seeking domination of this great area which Hitler had blocked out for himself.

Stefes objected and appealed to Justice Fowler after Judge Nohl indicated he would permit the question to be answered.

The defense contends the amnesia resulted from a bullet Christiansen fired into his own head, blinding him and injuring part of the brain.

Baer and Galento Throw Punches and Threats in Pre-Bout

Jersey City—(AP)—Maxie Baer swung a punch at Tony Galento while the two heavyweights were posing for photographs here today, and their handlers had to pry them apart as they took turns snarling threats at each other. A wild right swing glanced off Tony's abundant stomach after he had slapped Baer's guard down.

All had been fairly peaceful while the pair weighed in for their 15-round bout tonight in the ball park. Galento scaled 244 and Baer 224.

Later, they struck their fighting poses for the cameraman, and the bulbs were flashing when Tony suddenly slapped Baer's left fist down. Possibly he thought Maxie was holding it too close to the Galento features.

Baer's reaction, at any rate, was fast and apparently serious. He swung with everything he had, and Tony braced to meet him as their handlers rushed in and grabbed both men.

"I'll get ya tonight, ya mug," shouted the enraged Galento.

"That's all I'm waiting for," yelled Maxie right back.

The incident appeared to have been spontaneous.

100 Ships in Canada's Fast Growing Navy

BY JOHN LEAR

Ottawa, Canada—(AP)—One of the defenses Adolf Hitler will meet if he extends his war against the British empire to the western hemisphere will be the Canadian navy.

A year ago that navy was insignificant.

It had but 15 ships to defend one of the longest coastlines in the world.

The biggest of them were a half dozen destroyers.

Today the fleet has a hundred ships, including big armed merchant cruisers, in action on the seas.

Ninety more are building, the first of them due to hit the ways this month.

The new craft are being specially made for warfare over and under the water.

They carry anti-air guns to fight planes and "Y-guns" to drop depth charges on submarines.

For Heavy Seas

They would be formidable antagonists for the German "mosquito fleet" or torpedo boats, for they are small—slightly shorter than destroyers—and fast, and designed to stand up under a beating from the heavy swell of the north Atlantic.

This fleet of "corvettes" as they are called, embodies Canada's determination not to let the burden of her first line of defense fall either on the United States protection guaranteed by the Monroe doctrine or on the British fleet.

In fact, the dominion navy already has reversed the usual procedure and has sent warships to English waters to defend the motherland—the first time in history that this has been done.

Destroyers were sped across the Atlantic just before the withdrawal from Dunkirk after the battle of Flanders.

Other Canadian vessels range over the greater part of the western hemisphere; in the Pacific, in the Atlantic, and around French, British and Dutch possessions in the Caribbean sea.

By far the most gruelling and hazardous job is the convoy, which herds as many as 50 or 60 supply boats at a time from Halifax to England.

The nerve strain on this assignment is terrific; there is constant danger of submarine and air attack, and communication among the caravan is too dangerous to risk.

Canada's part in sea war does not end with the Canadian navy. Seamen and officers have been placed in the British navy at so rapid a rate that before long there will be as many Canadians there as were in the Canadian navy before the war.

Yards Are Busy

This program of naval expansion is something new to this part of the world. In the past, Canada relied on the British navy to protect her in the Atlantic and the United States navy in the Pacific. Even during the World war, her fleet was negligible.

Credit for the speed of the transformation belongs chiefly to Admiral Percy Nelles, Canadian naval chief. He had all his defenses laid out on paper in advance, and he executed them smoothly and quickly.

Six days after war was declared, the first convoy—lifeline of empire—was on the move.

Every shipyard in Canada—there are twenty or more—was put to work on new warship construction. All are booked to capacity at least until mid-summer of 1941. This year alone $100,000,000 will be spent, compared to $3,000,000 in the comparable year of the World war.

Want State to Cut Insurance Rates on Municipal Deposits

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—The League of Wisconsin Municipalities today repeated its charge that the state board of deposits is assessing local governments needily high premium rates for the insurance of their bank deposits and that as a result there is piling up in the state treasury an unnecessary surplus taken from the property taxpayers' pockets.

The League reiterated its appeal to Governor Heil to order a reduction in the premium rate from one-half of one per cent to one-tenth of one per cent, asserting that such a rate, added to income from the present reserve, would more than meet the nominal losses experienced by the fund as shown by the record of the last four years.

Such a reduction, the League maintained, would result in a saving of at least $160,000 annually to the local governments.

The League said that last December Governor Heil had promised in writing to arrange a meeting of the state board of deposits for a public hearing on the proposal for a reduced rate. The hearing has never been held, however, said the league, and the "governor repudiated this promise."

Covers 1,500 Risks
The board of deposits insures, depending on the time of the year, local government funds ranging in amount from $50,000 to $100,000,000. It covers the bank accounts of about 1,500 local units of government. About 8,500 others have deposits under $5,000 and are thus covered by the FDIC.

The League said that interest revenue from present liquid assets of the board estimated at about $1,300,000 is more than enough to pay current claims and to meet expenses of administration. Therefore, it continued, there is no justification for a continuation of a high premium rate to build up the reserve.

A sufficiently high reserve for absolute protection in the event of general bank failures is impossible to attain, the statement said.

"It must be apparent that if the FDIC is not able to stabilize and protect the banking system of this nation, it is virtually impossible for the state board of deposits to accumulate sufficient reserves that would be available when needed to pay the claims that would follow a general breakdown of the banking system. If such a period of chaos should ever occur no insurance scheme, public or private, could hope to survive."

Defense Can't Await Attack, Stimson Says

increased what he called the "great danger to this nation."

Senator Ellender broke in to ask Knox if there "had been any discussion of the third term?"

"I know what you're thinking about," Knox replied with a smile. "There were no commitments or provisions made on either side."

Both Ellender and Knox referred to reports that Knox had taken the cabinet appointment with the understanding that President Roosevelt would not seek a third term.

Stimson, who was secretary of state in the Hoover administration and secretary of war under President Taft, told the military group that "we are faced with an unprecedented period."

He recommended compulsory military training as one means of bolstering the nation's defenses. He continued:

"Today, the time which we will have for our re-armament is very largely dependent upon the continuance of Great Britain's control of the north Atlantic."

Under these conditions any assistance which we can safely give towards the continuance of that sea power in the north Atlantic is a step most important to our own interest in preparation."

The 72-year-old witness said that "the situation today is much more critical than it was last autumn (when congress repealed the arms embargo) and the time which can be saved by the existence of British sea power much more precious."

The United States, Stimson said, has no desire for aggression and "no one wishes to send American troops beyond our borders unless the protection of this United States itself makes such action necessary."

"On the other hand," he declared, "I do not believe that the United States can be safely protected by a purely passive or defensive defense. I do not believe that we shall be safe from invasion if we sit down and wait for the enemy to attack our shores."

The increased range of modern weapons, Stimson testified "has made it necessary to continually increase the distance which must intervene between our shores and a possible enemy."

Therefore, he said, the nation's line of defense now embraces Puerto Rico, Bermuda, Newfoundland and northeastern Canada "because it is now recognized that a powerful enemy secured a base at any one of these places it could launch a devastating air attack upon our eastern seaboard."

"At the present moment," Stimson continued, "this line of our defense is critically affected by the fact that all of these places except Puerto Rico are involved in the present war and may be subjected to the hazard of a victory by the German dictator."

Although the naval committee met in closed session, its first business was to decide whether to admit the public for Knox's testimony. One committee member, Senator Holt (D-W.Va.), predicted the hearing would be thrown open and reiterated he would "tell everything that happens" if it should be closed.

Expect Confirmation
Naval and military committees generally agreed, that the senate itself would confirm both nominations.

Senator Johnson (D-Colo.), a member of the military committee, said he would try to ascertain whether former War Secretary Woodring was forced out because he declined to approve the transfer to the allies of American military equipment which he believed essential to national defense.

Johnson added that he would question Stimson about his views, and indicated he would request Woodring's appearance for testimony.

Senator Nye (R-N.D.) demanded that the military committee obtain Woodring's letter of resignation, which the White House described as "personal" and therefore did not make it public.

Lansing, Mich. —(P)—Michigan's executive office created a state defense council today, ignoring advice from Washington that the national defense council plans to have nothing to do with the Michigan setup and considers that it is unnecessary at this time.

Emerson R. Boyles, legal adviser speaking in the absence of Governor Luren D. Dickinson, said he considered the time had arrived for the states to integrate their defense programs and that Michigan would complete its council under the direction of former Governor Wilber M. Bruckner.

Bruckner has announced acceptance of the appointments and declared that he would see to it that Michigan was ready in the event of war.

Customer Starts Car, Crashes Into Window
Butte, Mont. —(P)—One way to drive a customer right out of the salesroom is the way William Corbett, car salesman, used.

"How's the motor?" inquired a prospect sitting in the driver's seat of a salesfloor sample.

"Try it," generously suggested Corbett.

The customer stepped on the starter. The car scooted right through the plate glass window.

Army Recruiting Office to Be Established at Menasha

A United States army recruiting office will be established in Room 200 of the Menasha post office building Friday to take enlistments for all branches of the army, including the air corps. Private E. Friday of the regular army, who will have charge of the recruiting station, said there are many vacancies and applicants are given a wide selection in their choice of service.

Particular stress is being laid on unemployed high school and college graduates and their parents have been urged to consult men in charge of enlistments. Private Friday said, "The army intends to build a nucleus which will be prepared for any emergency."

Hours at the Menasha office will be from 8 to 12 in the morning, 1 to 5 in the afternoon and 7 to 9 in the evening. The station will be continued so long as there is a demand for the accommodation. Applicants, who must be over 18 and under 35 years of age, are given preliminary physical examinations and brief tests at Menasha. Those who qualify are transferred to Milwaukee where they are given a final check and assigned to posts.

forces" and announced that there were "already several ships and air groups under his command."

(CBS picked up a broadcast from London of Muslier's order of the day, which "released" French sailors from the obligation to follow terms of the French armistices with Germany and Italy, and directed the French ships to assemble at free, French or allied bases to carry on the war.)

Muslier was said to have taken over a French warship at Marseille and gone to Gibraltar where the French government surrendered. The British brought him to London by plane to aid De Gaulle's French national committee.

German bombers, following up their first daylight attack—described as unsuccessful—on southwestern England yesterday, returned to the isles last night in a series of raids.

In the northeast Scottish town where most of the casualties were reported, the ministry of home security said a lone raider bombed a row of houses, killing four children playing in a street.

Bombs also fell in northeast England and on the Welsh coast.

Speed Air Training
Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair announced today in commons the appointment of Air Vice Marshal, A. G. R. Garrod as director of empire aviation training under a new plan to speed the output of trained pilots and flying personnel.

One of Garrod's duties will be to coordinate the flow of trained pilots from Britain and the dominions to the number of planes produced.

He also will supervise the supply of training planes and instructors to Canada and the other dominions.

The 49-year-old air vice marshal holds the military cross for his flying services in the World war.

From 1923 to 1927 he was an instructor in the R. A. F. staff college, later was chief instructor of the Oxford university air squad.

Bruckner has announced acceptance of the appointments and declared that he would see to it that Michigan was ready in the event of war.

Customer Starts Car, Crashes Into Window
Butte, Mont. —(P)—One way to drive a customer right out of the salesroom is the way William Corbett, car salesman, used.

"How's the motor?" inquired a prospect sitting in the driver's seat of a salesfloor sample.

"Try it," generously suggested Corbett.

The customer stepped on the starter. The car scooted right through the plate glass window.

closed without competitive bidding, as authorized by the new speedup legislation which President Roosevelt signed just two hours earlier.

Other departments kept up with the preparedness pace.

The RFC's two special raw material agencies arranged to buy 150,000 tons of rubber and 75,000 tons of tin for strategic purposes. It was disclosed that the government already has acquired about $12,000,000 in vital materials, ranging from optical glass to Manila fiber.

The war department, acting to meet the needs of the expanding army, cut short the leaves of 444 recent West Point graduates. The president signed bills providing $18,500,000 for either construction or land acquisition at 25 military posts.

Sidney Hillman, labor specialist of the national defense commission, announced the enrollment of 150,000 student workers would get underway immediately to accelerate training of skilled men for armament industries.

In rating the existing United States navy the world's largest, naval experts also estimated that the present fleet, plus units now ordered or appropriated for, would give this country a navy equal to any now being built. They include not only Britain's and Japan's, but also the fleet that might be formed by a coalition of German, Italian and French sea strength.

of a "possible unpleasant consequence" of the frontier incidents. Hungary charged Rumanians had penetrated Hungary at Visk.

These incidents and reports of general mobilization in Hungary caused redoubling of precautions throughout Rumania. Air raid defense squads made their first appearance in Bucharest's streets with full equipment.

Efforts to strengthen defenses on the new Russian frontiers in ceded Bessarabia and northern Bucovina continued but reports from those areas said all was quiet there.

(Tass, official Russian news agency, announced red army troops had "accomplished their task" along the entire length of the Prut and Danube river frontiers.)

Russian forces were reported withdrawing from some points where they over-ran the demarcation line and invaded Rumanian territory in their rushed occupation of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina last week.

There were some fears, however, the Russians might try to advance again.

These fears were believed to be the reason for the sudden delivery to Rumania last night of a fleet of German-made bombing planes.

The planes were said to have been ordered by the Rumanian government but their delivery at this time was believed by diplomatic circles to be a warning to Russia. It was pointed out Germany was not likely to furnish planes for use against her friend Hungary.

Delivery of the planes also was regarded as significant in that they arrived only a few hours after the Rumanian cabinet announced it was renouncing the British-French guarantees given in April, last year.

Diplomatic circles said this move definitely placed Rumania in the German orbit and that she was likely to listen to German advice regarding Hungarian and Bulgarian territorial claims.

The Rumanian government remained silent. Many acts, such as an interior ministry appeal to the population for "solidarity," indicated Rumania was resolved to resist further territorial demands.

Gets Shock As Radio Falls Into Bath Tub

Walsenburg, Colo. —(P)—From now on Jack Johnson, 17, will do his own singing in the bath tub.

Letting a portable radio set do it for him, he scrubbed himself contentedly until soap got into his eyes. He reached for a towel and knocked the radio into the tub.

It charged the water with electricity, paralyzing Johnson. A brother heard his moans and rescued him.

Instruct Delegates At Legion Meeting

Delegates to the state convention were given instructions at a meeting of the Oney Johnston post, American Legion last night at the Legion clubhouse. Members also inspected the repairs being made in the assembly room.

Following the business meeting schafkopf was played and prizes won by Ray Greason, Stanley A. Staidl and Frank Schrimpf.

candidate, in Washington before leaving on a vacation, the date of which still has not been set.

"I hope to be able to announce the basis for my campaign setup by Friday," Willkie asserted. "However, I want to give the whole matter serious consideration, and I may not be able to have it completed by that time. Certainly it will not be before Friday."

Willkie said he would have an important announcement to make, perhaps at his afternoon press conference, on campaign policy, with particular reference to his views on campaign contributions.

Previously he had said he would prefer a great many small contributions rather than a few large ones at any rate none over $5,000.

Willkie said he planned also to see the subcommittee of the national Republican committee, which is to meet tomorrow in New York, and which has authority to select a national chairman. He did not think any definite conclusion would be reached at his meeting with the members.

News Made to Order

Leadville, Colo. —(P)—Speaking literally, reporters for The Leadville Herald-Democrat barely had to budge from their chairs to "cover" one recent news story.

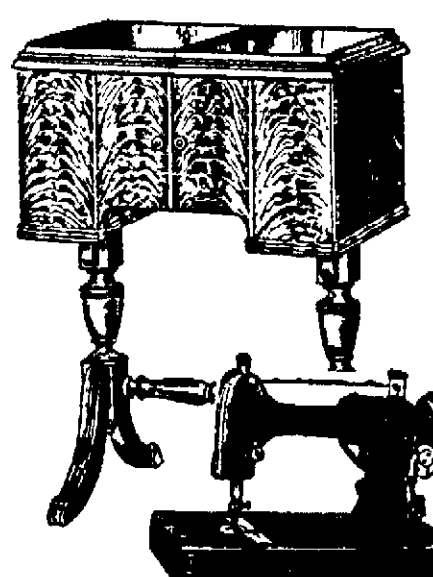

The brakes on a car failed to hold and the vehicle came through the front windows of the Herald-Democrat's building.

There were no casualties but equipment was damaged.

Chicago Man to Offer Ideas on New Pool Friday

Chauncey Hyatt to Tell Officials What Type Appleton Needs

Chauncey A. Hyatt, Chicago, a swimming pool expert, will be in Appleton Friday and Saturday to confer with city officials on the type of pool needed in Appleton.

Hyatt, who is supposed to know all about swimming pools, will come to Appleton for his expenses and wrote the mayor that "a fee is not necessary and I will be glad to do all I can to help you."

Mayor Goodland asked Hyatt to come to Appleton after a meeting of the special pool committee last week when members disagreed on the type of pool and professed lack of information. Hyatt is with the Illinois state board of health.

The pool expert will bring with him a projection machine and several reels of movies showing various kinds of pools. He also will show several hundred slides of pools which were taken in all parts of the country. Hyatt is reputed to have the most complete collection of pool photographs in the world.

The swimming pool committee will meet at 7:30 Friday evening in city hall to see Hyatt's pictures and to hear his ideas on what Appleton needs in the way of a swimming tank. The committee made a trip to Racine, Milwaukee and Waukesha two weeks ago and got a number of ideas about pools out of the trip.

Fremont—A Fourth of July celebration was held Sunday at the Orinula resort. The afternoon attractions included a ball game, nail-driving and apple-eating contests and a tug-of-war. Musical selections were presented by Miss Evelyn and Floyd Bartel, and there was dancing during the afternoon and evening. There was a display of fireworks in the evening.

The regular meeting of the village board will be held Tuesday evening in the council chamber of the village hall.

Relatives from here were entertained at a party Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoberger, Jr., Winchester, who recently moved to a farm there.

Canning Season Opens at Factory

Brillion—Packing of the season's pea crop at the local plant of the Calumet Dutch Packing company began Thursday and continued Saturday with a light production. Plant officials anticipate a several week's run and started this week with a much heavier production. The company has 400 acres of early peas with an equal amount of late ones. Canning of the early peas will continue until July 10. This year's crop appears to be normal with a reasonable yield per acre. The plant employs a crew of 115 men and 60 women.

Why They Can't Help

Liking Willkie

Mr. Willkie is well-grounded. He wears a No. 12 shoe. Thus there is nothing dainty about him. Daintiness never seemed to belong in the Presidency.

Mr. Willkie looks a man in the eye. That is one of the good tests of sincerity. Some men have risen to high estate who couldn't look another in the eye. Their glances were as shifty as their policies.

None of the mothers in the town in which Mr. Willkie was raised were ever heard to exclaim to their children, "I wish you would try to behave like the Willkie boy." Thus the "next president" was not a model as a child—Heaven be thanked for that.

Early in life, Mr. Willkie was told by his father that work was the crowning glory of manhood. So in the summer he went to work. When he was old enough, he got a newspaper route. Then he drove a bakery wagon.

From his life's story it is evident that the Republican nominee likes work. He was late getting back to the university one fall because he had gone into the harvesting fields in the northwest. He explained that wages were high and work plentiful. No doubt he liked the trickle of the sweat running down his body. A man who glories in that feeling is not likely to be dangerous to the welfare of others.

While at the university, Willkie heard they were paying high wages in the Texas oil fields. And he went to work in Texas. Those who have smelled of atmosphere around Texas oil fields when the sun is high will appreciate what it meant to work there. Plenty of sweat again.

Willkie was versatile in his work. One job he held was as short-order cook in a restaurant. He never burned the toast nor boiled over the coffee.

On the 6th of April, 1917, this country went to war. That was the day Willkie went to war.

When the blooming war was over—and the world made safe ever since—Willkie got a job in a big law office at $175.00 a month. Just fourteen years later, he was made president of a great utility system at $75,000.00 a year. He didn't bridge this gap in one leap. He took it in stride, one step at a time.

The utility was in difficulties. Prosperity had passed it by. Willkie wasn't attracted by the "chestnut" argument to raise prices. He figured the best thing to do was to lower prices, extend the business, make electric current indispensable to everyone, let it do all the work in the household. That is just the program he carried out to the success of his company.

And now he came to one of the greatest tests which men must meet. For the utilities' directors, highly pleased with Mr. Willkie, told him they were raising his salary and were shocked when he told them they were not. Willkie said that $75,000 a year was enough for any man. "I won't take a salary bigger than that of the President," he declared. "I don't think anybody in America should earn more than the President."

Willkie did not worship the Golden Calf. Essential as money is, it is not the end nor the all with him.

There are only little items on life's tide but in connection with others they all point the same way and to the same conclusion. Here is a man of independent thought, ideas and action. When others were poring through his hair he was running grime through his. When others were building paper profits he was laboriously constructing bedrock foundations.

All this makes color in a candidate. And color must be severely distinguished from charm, glamor or comph. Color is the real goods, the genuine article. Charm and glamor may conceal a tubercular cough.

Nor are these manly qualifications Mr. Willkie evidenced to be limited to the wealthy. We had a millionaire President once who left the effete east to go west and ride the range, branding cattle, stalking the grizzly, building stockades, bunking with cowboys. And he was a marvelous President too.

Willkie looks like the answer to the yearning of our millions for honest, brave, intelligent leadership.

Trojan Horse and Fifth Column

The disposition to treat the Fifth Column and the Trojan Horse as things identical must not be encouraged for they were distinct and separate propositions back there when the mists of antiquity were just beginning to lift themselves. So at least Virgil plainly implies.

Even the Trojan Horse couldn't have gotten past the gates of Troy, burdened as it was with the Trojan's enemies, had there not been Fifth Columnists to advise the Trojans to their own destruction.

It took a ten-year war for the Greeks to figure out the Trojan Horse and get the Fifth Column in Troy to work. Virgil indicates that the siege of Troy had lasted that long when it occurred to the Greeks that they might do by trickery what couldn't be accomplished by frontal attack. Then it was that the wily Ulysses executed the design of a wooden horse built "like a mountain" and made from planks of pine, maple and fir. But in those days the battle was not only to the young. The foremost heroes, Ulysses, Diomed and Menelaus climbed into the hollow horse while the rest of the Greeks set sail in apparent admission of defeat.

And now here is where the Fifth Column comes in. All Troy, stale and weary at the long siege, gathered round the giant steed whereupon a fellow called Thymocles suggested that it would be a smart idea to bring the horse through the gates and into the fair city. But Capys said it would be better to tip the creation into the sea or set it on fire or at least hew it open and see whether there was anything inside. He was seconded by Laocoon who directly charged that there were Greeks inside the horse or else some poisonous trick prepared for the destruction of the Trojans.

But the cautious advice of honest skepticism was drowned in the excitement arising when a prisoner called Sinon came forth and confessed a tale that seemed sound to the Trojans. He said that Ulysses had named him as a human sacrifice demanded by the gods before they would permit the Greeks a safe voyage home and that the massive horse had been erected as atonement and that its destruction would bring the wrath of Heaven upon the Trojans whereas if it were taken into the city and treated with becoming honor the gods would be pleased.

There was some argument here but since Sinon was a very plausible talker and accompanied his tale with a bitter attack upon the Greeks and deep praise for Trojan valor the simple people elected that the chivalrous thing to do was to follow his advice. So they took the horse into the city, even cutting down a section of the walls for that purpose. And they knocked the tops off of a good many jugs of wine that night in testimonial of their own cleverness and the stupidity of the Greeks. But even as they slept the Fifth Column was opening the trap door in the horse. The Greeks were tumbling out and the Greek army that had sailed away was relanding. It had quite an easy time walking into the town after Ulysses and the other boys had opened up the gates.

So it is good to recall that even a Trojan horse is useless without its Fifth Column, and to be guided accordingly.

Democracy Vs. Despotism

The totalitarians are in their element. It is their turn to laugh all right. And they are doing it hoarsely and heavily.

They say that democracies are effeminate creations, soft and flabby, in head as well as muscle.

But even while we must concede democracy's shortcomings in order to correct them we must recognize that to date totalitarians have only shown pronounced success in that abnormal and unnatural condition called war.

America wouldn't listen to General Mitchell frantically pointing to the menace of the airplane. It wouldn't listen to General Parsons demanding mechanized units. And now it develops that General de Gaulle, then a colonel in the French army, now leading the French government created in Britain, went so far as to pass over the heads of his superior officers and actually appeared before the Chamber of Deputies in 1935 asking for funds to create 10 heavily mechanized army divisions. He was supported by Reynaud, recently premier, but the parliament said No. It didn't see any war in the air. And besides there were the eternal political fences to fix. Yet those very divisions might have stopped German victory.

A totalitarian government would have shown immediate interest in the suggestions of trained and well informed soldiers. But a lawmaking body in a democracy has too many petty and pitiful irons in the fire. It wouldn't even occur to the lawmakers, perhaps, that such men as Mitchell, Parsons and de Gaulle were superbly equipped mentally and by education and long training to master difficult problems and should not have been brushed aside to make way for some ward worker looking for a "pull" position for a cousin.

The totalitarians claim that they know "the valuable from the worthless," and they apply this rule in human values as well as any other.

Probably the only way that democracy will ever come abreast them in this regard is by finding some practical way to eliminate the great number of perfectly trivial things with which it consumes its time.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—How vigorously Nazi Germany is trying to undermine the United States in Latin America is illustrated by a secret arms offer Hitler has just made to sell $60,000,000 worth of the latest military weapons to Brazil. This would include tanks, artillery, flame-throwers, bombing planes and other modern devices with which Germany prostrated France—American nations have been relatively at peace for half a century.

Furthermore, Germany guarantees to deliver the goods almost immediately—via Italian ships. This indicates how sure Hitler is of conquering England. He can sell his arms almost before the British attack starts.

It now looks very much as if Brazil would accept the offer.

State department officials, together with General George Marshall, dynamic U. S. chief of staff, are pulling every possible wire to prevent the purchase, but they are having a hard time. They are offering to sell American military equipment instead. However, the Brazilians point out that because of cheap Nazi wages it would take $200,000,000 to buy the same material here where costs are much higher. Furthermore, Hitler is willing to accept coffee and other Brazilian surplus products in a barter deal. No real cash is involved.

Finally, the Brazilians say they bought some artillery from the United States recently, but it was World War stuff, and they had to spend $8,000 for repairs on each gun. The German munitions, on the other hand, are virtually new.

General Marshall made a special flight to Brazil last year to get acquainted with the Brazilian army, and later piloted General Goes Monteiro, Brazilian chief of staff, all over the United States. However, all this goodwill doesn't seem to count today. At least 40 per cent of the Brazilian army is reported to be pro-Nazi.

Note—Meanwhile the state department moves with tragic slowness to counteract Nazi activity in South America. Three years ago it set up a Cultural Relations bureau to cultivate Latin America, but its activity to date is minus zero.

DR. TOWNSEND'S DISGUST

It got lost in the news shuffle, but Doc Townsend, the piper of old age pensions, walked out on the Republican convention before it was two days old.

"This is nothing but a wild jubilee," Townsend told friends as he packed up to leave Philadelphia, "just a lot of noisy politicians talking about a war 3,000 miles away with no serious thought of shaping an economic program for the next four years."

"It certainly is an extraordinary spectacle for a national convention. I hope the Democrats have more to offer us."

The only candidate that interested the 73-year-old pension leader was Wendell Willkie, but he couldn't get near him. Willkie he was surrounded by a mob of shouting supporters; Townsend, "I finally gave up and decided to wash my hands of the whole business."

FORD AIRPLANE MOTORS

The dispute with Henry Ford over producing 6,000 Rolls-Royce airplane engines for Great Britain had more behind it than met the eye. Among other things it illustrated one of the major national defense problems of the country—plant capacity. In order to arm in a hurry, huge factory space is necessary, and Ford has it, in fact has boasted that he could produce 1,000 airplane engines daily.

To take advantage of this, National Defense and a Mogul Knudsen, head of General Motors and a rival of Ford, gave him an order for 9,000 Rolls-Royce motors. Actually, Knudsen could have handled the order in his own General Motors plant, but he leaned over backward against favoritism. His own Allison airplane motor competes with the Rolls-Royce.

Therefore, Edsel Ford came to Washington and accepted the order, subject to the approval of his father. Later he telephoned his father in Detroit and reported to Knudsen that the 9,000 engines would be manufactured—3,000 for the United States, 6,000 for England at a cost of $14,500 per engine.

Knudsen immediately reported this to the war department where it was considered one of the most important steps so far taken toward fulfilling the goal of 50,000 airplanes. For the United States, by taking advantage of the bulk British order, was getting a cheaper price.

NO MOTOR MONEY

However, Assistant War Secretary Louis Johnson immediately raised the red flag of no money. Congress had not appropriated enough funds for these new airplane engines, he said. However, Johnson immediately telephoned to Jim Byrnes, able administration manipulator in the senate and a member of the appropriations committee.

"Senator," said Johnson, "we've got a bargain order for 3,000 airplane engines placed with Ford if we can get $43,500,000. Can you put that amount through your committee?"

"The committee's in session right now," Byrnes replied, "Have you got the OK of the budget bureau?"

So Senator Byrnes held the appropriations committee in session for thirty minutes more while Johnson telephoned the budget bureau and the White House to get their approval. A few minutes thereafter, the senate committee OK'd the $43,500,000.

All this was done in one afternoon, just after Edsel Ford reported that he had received his father's telephonic OK.

Everyone at the war department was congratulating Knudsen when suddenly Henry Ford issued his statement refusing to manufacture motors for England or any belligerent. Disappointed, Knudsen immediately went to Detroit, argued with him at length, but the elder Ford was adamant.

So now the order is going to Packard.

Note—Ford maintains plants in Canada and England which cooperate with the British on war supplies.

CAPITAL CHAFF

Actually, the new France will not be as big as Belgium. . . . We don't need to worry so much about sending our boys to Europe, there's not much of Europe to send them to. . . . Four men who control about 75 per cent of all the rubber manufactured in the entire world sat down to lunch at the Mayflower the other day. They were: Harvey Firestone, Jr., of the Firestone company; J. L. Collier, head of Goodrich; Paul Litchfield, head of Goodyear; and Francis B. Davis, Jr., head of U. S. Rubber. They were discussing ways and means of getting raw rubber when the Dutch East Indies and the Malays fall into the hands of dictators.

A Bystander In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT

Washington—Of all the "possible contingencies" that your government and mine is considering as a result of this war, none is more strange than that Canada may become the seat of the British empire.

No matter how remote you may consider it, the State Department has been investigating it as a possibility for weeks. . . . simply that no surprise may crop up in the coming months for which we will not be prepared.

What's more, in the foggy realm of possibilities, this isn't considered so terribly remote. The question is, of course, can Germany deal a blitzkrieg to the British Isles similar to those with which she has swept aside a half a dozen smaller nations and crushed France as though that supposedly great military power were no more than a papier mache Graustark? And if the Nazis can, will England carry on?

Winston Churchill has said that England will. There are other straws in the wind. Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and her family have been sent to Canada. More than 20,000 children, refugees from the danger zone of the British Isles are being sent to Canada.

In the State Department here it already is considered a certainty that if the capital of the British empire is established in the New World, it will be at Toronto (Ottawa is the capital of the Dominion, in case you have forgotten). Toronto is a hedge-hop from Buffalo, N. Y.—an easy sail to the northern shore of Lake Ontario.

It's Tough Going

Now, off the record, here are a few of the things that your State Department is discovering.

Canada cannot support a very large population. Its present 11,000,000 or so is strung out in a narrow band along the northern border of the United States, curving slightly upward at the ends. Since 1900, it has had immigrants numbering something like 6,500,000—but so many of these and of those already there have found the going hard, that 5,000,000 Canadians have sought a "fuller life" in the United States, during the same period.

Canadian industry exists only because of a high tariff wall. (This isn't true of all industries, but it applies to most of those which are competitive with industries in other nations.)

Canada is heavily dependent on American capital. There is, it is reported, some four billion dollars of American money invested in Canada, almost twice as much as is invested by the capitalists and investors of Great Britain.

Canadian fortunes and the very livelihood of the populace depend upon world trade. . . . particularly trade with United States and the British Isles which take about 80 per cent of Canada's exports. (If trade with the latter were suspended because there no longer were any British Isles, Canada would lose almost half its export market.)

The Canadian public debt already is in the vicinity of $700 per capita (compared with approximately $450 per capita in this country, even when you take state and municipal debts into consideration.)

Canada's average annual wheat surplus is 260,000,000 bushels. What could be done with it?

It's Anybody's Guess

These aren't half the problems regarding Canada that the State Department, behind the scenes, is considering, but they serve to make the point that it's no matter of simple grade-school arithmetic.

If King George VI takes up residence on the upturn beach of Lake Ontario, it will be the first time (with a few trivial exceptions) that any monarch has ruled from the western hemisphere, but that isn't what's bothering the State Department.

What's worrying them now, so that it might not worry you in the face of "any contingency" is what can the United States do if it should come to pass.

Your guess and mine is as good as theirs at the moment.

Looking Backward

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, July 6, 1915

H. H. Thell of Appleton was elected as a delegate to the national convention at the joint interstate convention of mail carriers Monday at Wausau.

There was to be no more bathing in Jones park because of the lack of dressing rooms there.

Fred Kranyold was acting as superintendent of the Kimberly mill.

A great British airplane attack directed against the German position in a bay of the North sea July 4 had failed.

The mean temperature for June was 59, the coldest June since 1889 when it was 58.

10 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, July 1, 1930

The Hunter brothers, John and Kenneth, 55 hours beyond the world's refueling endurance flight record, were within 25 hours of the 500-hour mark and intended to continue flying as long as their plane, "The City of Chicago," would hold together.

The foundation for the new Irving Zuelke building was rapidly nearing completion.

The Rev. and Mrs. John W. Wilson were to leave Wednesday for Green Lake where they were to attend the annual conference of Congregational young people. Dr. Wilson was to be a councillor.

HANDS OUTSTRETCHED

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The most important state government department, in point of the amount of money it handles and the appeal it has for the politicians who run that government, is the state highway department.

Yet its operations are probably the least understood of any capitol agency, which may be the reason for petting on highway matters in every state government administration.

A great issue in the coming state campaign—if local state issues are going to figure in that campaign at all—will be highway diversion, the appropriation by the administration of highway taxes for other than their designated purpose, the highway system.

Yet, to judge from their comments, few of the politicians who are doing the complaining know exactly what has happened in the highway department, and the details of its budget, in the last year. Inadequate reporting of its affairs, perhaps due to the influence of the executive department, by the highway commission itself has contributed to the confusion which now prevails.

TIE RECORD

The recapitulate then: The highway department annually receives in revenues from gasoline taxes and motor vehicle license fees, something over $30,000,000, which according to the theory of Wisconsin highway laws, are to be plowed back into the state and local highway systems of Wisconsin.

The legislature under various enactments has earmarked about $28,000,000 of that amount, for construction, maintenance, snow removal, for bridges, planning, county and local highways, and town roads.

The balance, the excess of receipts over disbursements, has become known as the "free fund", a phrase, much bandied about in political campaigns lately. In theory at least it is available for expenditure by the state highway commission on the state highway system at its discretion.

But in recent years precious little of this free fund has been spent for highways. It has been diverted for general state operations, by LaFollette and by Heil. It was a relatively easy and painless alternative for economy or for higher taxes.

Heil announced publicly many months ago, despite the wording of the 1938 Republican platform, that he intended to dip into highway receipts to balance his uncomfortably high state operating budget. It was his only choice. The legislature had declined to balance the budget by adding new state taxes. But the rub came when it was found that the free fund, because of extra legislative appropriations of highway money to the localities in the 1939 session, was insufficient for his needs, or what he regarded as his needs. Where to find more?

ON THE FUTURE

A part of the $28,000,000 earmarked by statute is an $8,000,000 item allocated to the counties for expenditure, with their own funds, on state trunk highways. Half of that amount is annually pledged for payments on bond principal and interest, representing previous borrowings through a system by which the counties issue bonds under an agreement with the state to retire them in the future. On that item the state could not default. But another $4,000,000 is appropriated for current work on state trunks. That be-

NOT GENUINE

Even today there is a limit beyond which a woman dare not go in matters of dress and makeup lest she become an object of ridicule. After all, personal appearance and personal manners, pleasing voice and diction are not quite sufficient tests of refinement and culture. Taste is indispensable.

A woman of fifty who has contrived, or perhaps just had the good fortune, to retain more than the average degree of grace and charm (vite is the word for it), mentioned that altho she had never devoted much time to brushing her teeth she had always visited her dentist regularly for periodic inspection, treatment and polishing. She couldn't understand why some women went about with teeth darkened and stained for want of proper dental care.

In the same breath this woman, whose good looking teeth contributed considerably to her p. a., remarked that only a year ago she had lost a wisdom tooth and a second molar which the dentist had deemed too far damaged from infected old root fillings, to keep in the jaw. Oh, no, she hadn't felt it necessary to have any artificial dentures installed to fill the vacancies and carry on the functions of the missing teeth. The dentist tried to persuade her to do so, but she was sure the loss would never show, for they were only back teeth. . . .

Now in casual conversation you can't be too didactic especially when your opinion or advice has not been sought. You may manage came the source of Heil's additional diversion.

The fact is, however, that it is not ordinary diversion. Previous appropriations from the highway fund will never be repaid. Heil's diversion from the state trunk fund must be repaid, by law. It thus becomes only a loan, and as a candidate for governor, the implication is that Heil is borrowing against his revenues next year. If it is not spent this year, it must be spent next year, together with the regular appropriation for 1941. Thus has Heil introduced a new aspect to the old diversion issue, and thus are fewer highways being built in Wisconsin this year than in any other recent year.

to cite the rule that one must deduct two years from one's expectation of life for every tooth lost by disease or accident and not promptly replaced by a functionally efficient denture of one kind or another. Even at fifty a man or woman who still has fair health pays little heed to such generalities—they apply to other folk, perhaps, but hardly to the individual under consideration.

Not long afterward the same charming woman, chatting with some friends at the club, sympathized with one of them who had fractured an upper incisor in an accident, said it was lucky the whole tooth had not been lost, for probably the dentist could install a porcelain facing or something which would be indistinguishable from the normal teeth. She herself had lost two back teeth a year or two ago, but as the spaces did not show she had not bothered to have bridges made. She had heard that some dentists can install peg teeth to fill spaces without disturbing teeth on either side of the space. Teeth built on some kind of metal posts or pegs which are literally screwed into the jaw bone.

Yes, indeed, another woman here remarked, a peg tooth solves the problem in some cases where a single tooth is lost. She had a friend whose dentist installed a peg tooth to replace a lower incisor two years ago and it has proved quite satisfactory. The dentist who installed it advised that peg teeth are used more for appearance than for efficiency and that he would not attempt to insert one in place of a back tooth where the chief strain of mastication is borne.

Corpus Christi, Tex. —(7)—It was 4 o'clock in the morning. Joe D. Browning, justice of the peace, answered the telephone.

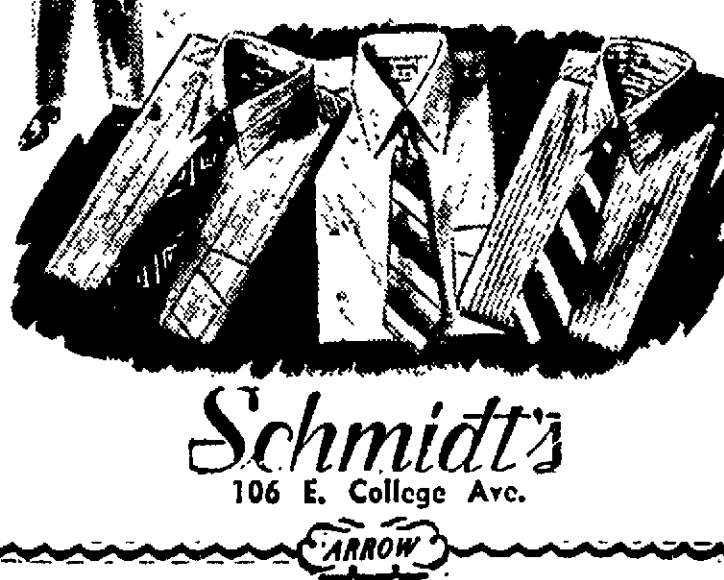

A voice said, "I want a search warrant. A fellow stole my wife."

"I can't give you a warrant to find your wife," Justice Browning said.

"Well, just skip her," the caller said. "What I really want back is my furniture. The fellow stole that too."

Costs $4.09 Per Capita to Pay Oldster Pensions

Wisconsin Payments Far Above Average For Entire Country

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The old age pension program in Wisconsin represents a cost of $4.09 annually per capita, considerably more than the national average, the state welfare department reported today on the basis of a survey by the federal social security board.

Wisconsin pension costs per capita put the state 17th among the 48 in the nation, and is typical of the middlewestern area. Comparable figures for neighboring states show Minnesota with $6.18, Iowa with $4.90, Illinois $3.90, Indiana $3.73, and Michigan $3.22, the department said. Reporting a total caseload for May on the old age pension rolls of 51,059, the state bulletin noted that "the chief deterrent to more liberal provision for old age assistance throughout the country is the considerable cost of this program as at present administered."

The national average cost is $3.33 per capita. Total social security aid payments to the aged, dependent children and the blind in Wisconsin in May were $1,665,953. Of that amount the aged got $1,149,147, the department said. The average old age pension paid during the month was $22.51. How that figure compares with the average paid in the counties of the Fox river valley section, and the caseload in those counties, is shown in the following tabulation:

County	Number	Average
Brown	823	$19.92
Outagamie	184	19.12
Calumet	184	20.00
Shawano	607	21.71
Manitowish	836	22.14
Winnebago	1,258	22.29

Saved the House

St. Joseph, Mo.—(AP)—Mrs. Millie L. Gordon went to Kansas City recently and saw some hard boiled eggs on display.

That reminded her that she had forgotten to turn off the fire under eggs she had been boiling when she left her home in St. Joseph.

She telephoned the St. Joseph fire department, asking an investigation of the situation in her kitchen. The firemen reported, a short time later, that the eggs had been reduced to ashes; the pan was red hot but there was little other damage.

Suffers Fractured Skull in Accident At Baseball Game

Chilton — John Weinreich of St. John was injured Sunday afternoon while witnessing a baseball game at Wells when the bat flew from the hands of the batter as he struck at the ball and hit Weinreich in the head, fracturing his skull just above the right eye. His nose also was fractured and his left eye was cut. The young man was brought to Chilton for treatment.

Uruguay does not have capital punishment.

Brillion's Municipal Plant Cuts Its Rates

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Effective yesterday, about 320 home, business, and industrial consumers of water furnished by the municipal utility of the village of Brillion are enjoying lower rates, according to the public service commission.

The utility has reduced its rates about $1,200 a year, the commission explained, representing a reduction of about $870 for private customers, and a cut of $330 in the hydrant rental for fire protection service paid by the village.

A seven-foot skeleton, believed to be that of a Roman, was unearthed near Hutton, England.

First Plans of Chemical House Are Approved

Commission Orders Detailed Drawings Of Plant Building

Preliminary plans for the proposed chemical house to be built at the water purification plant this summer were approved by the water works commission yesterday.

William U. Gallaher, plant superintendent, presented the sketches and the commission ordered the consulting engineers, Orbison and Orbison, Appleton, to prepare detailed drawings of the project.

Work on the million-gallon filtered water reservoir has been started by the Zachek Construction company, Denmark, which was given a permit by the city building inspector this morning for the project. Cost of the reservoir will be $27,260.

Detailed plans of the proposed chemical house will be considered by the commission after they are completed and then will be submitted to the state board of health and the public service commission for their approval.

The chemical building is expected to cost about $49,000 and the equipment for the building, another $44,000. The project will be the second step in the $191,000 modernization program at the water plant over the next few years.

The chemical house will provide suitable space for storage and feeding of all chemicals necessary for purification taste and odor removal and softening of the water supply.

The commission also rejected four bids on carbon for the purification plant and will re-advertise for new proposals.

Bryan's Resignation Topped War Headlines 25 Years Ago

BY VIOLA HELLERMAN

The resignation of William Jennings Bryan as secretary of state because he objected to President Wilson's second note to Germany on the Lusitania disaster took precedence over stories from the European battlefields in Appleton's two newspapers during June 1915.

Declaring that the document which was to be sent to Germany savored of an ultimatum, Bryan sent his resignation to President Wilson on June 8.

In the letter he explained, "You have prepared for transmission to the German government a note in which I cannot join without violating what I deem to be an obligation to my country, and the issue is of such moment that, to remain a member of the cabinet would be as unfair to you as it would be to the cause which is nearest my heart, namely the prevention of war."

Wilson's note to Germany reiterated with the same firmness as his previous note of May 15 the rights of neutrals on the seas. It also stated that United States officials examined the Lusitania before it left and found it was not armed for offensive action and that it was not serving as a transport of Canadian troops, as Germany had charged in its reply of May 28.

The note also declared, in part, "Whatever be the other facts regarding the Lusitania, the principal fact is that a great steamer, primarily and chiefly a conveyance for passengers and carrying more than a thousand souls who had no part or lot in the conduct of the war, was torpedoed and sunk without so much as a challenge or warning."

"The government of the United States cannot admit that the proclamation of a war zone from which neutral ships have been warned to keep away may be made to operate in any degree as an abbreviation of the rights either of American shipmasters or of American citizens bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nationality."

Takes Another View

A different view was held by Senator John D. Works of California, whose ideas were later embodied in the present neutrality law.

"Our government has been grievously in the wrong in permitting the exportation of war materials to the belligerent nations," Senator Works declared, "and especially in allowing passenger travel on a belligerent ship loaded with arms and munitions of war, bound for the ports of one of the belligerent nations. We should take much of the responsibility for the loss of American lives to ourselves."

Whether or not the second note to Germany was sufficient cause for a break between Bryan and Wilson, German officials in Washington said it was not sufficient cause for a break between the United States and Germany, and in Berlin a high official of the German foreign office said he was much impressed by its friendly tone.

The official German reply did not come immediately, however. It was not till June 28, more than two weeks after the note had been received, that it was announced in Berlin that the reply would be handed to Ambassador Gerard of the United States July 5 or 6. It was reported that the reply would take a form "to which no one in America can make objection."

By June 28, however, Anglo-American complications had temporarily pushed the German-American situation into the background. President Wilson's desk was heaped high with protests against British interference with American trade at sea, and the state department was planning a vehement American protest.

The American embassy at London was forwarding to Washington complete statistics of all American vessels and American owned cargoes retained by the allies, showing the owners were losing nearly $1,000 daily on each vessel. Protests reaching the president asked a special session of congress and a munitions embargo unless the allies ended their "illegal blockades."

Furious Battles In the meantime the war in Europe went bitterly on. Furious battles were in progress all along the Franco-Flanders battlefield from Arras to the sea. Lemberg, the Galician capital, occupied by the Russians since Sept. 3, 1914, fell before the triumphant Austro-German armies on June 23, and as Berlin celebrated its capture a new cry, "On to Paris" was heard through the city. Unlike June, 1940, however, June 23 years ago found the Germans no closer than 45 miles from the French capital.

A world-wide peace conference convened June 17 at Independence hall, Philadelphia, to consider the formation of a league of nations. Fostered by former President William Howard Taft, who presided at the meeting, the conference was said to have the unofficial endorsement of President Wilson.

On June 28 the first anniversary of the assassination at Sarajevo of the Austrian Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the act which touched off the war, was observed throughout Germany and Austria. Austrian newspapers devoted columns of eulogies to the late heir to the throne.

Predicts Rise In Temperature

Weatherman States Fair Skies Will Continue Tomorrow

The weatherman was in good humor today and promised continued fair weather with slightly higher temperatures tomorrow in Appleton and vicinity.

Residents have been satisfied with the weather of the last few days which offered pleasant afternoons with cool nights that made for good sleeping. Shortly after noon today the mercury stood at 69 degrees, according to a reading taken on the roof of the Post-Crescent building.

Appleton's highest and lowest temperatures in the last 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning were 72 at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 50 at 5 o'clock this morning at the power plant of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company.

Thinks Fair Trade Code Law Invalid

La Crosse — (AP) — Circuit Judge Robert S. Cowie believes that the state's fair trade code law is "unconstitutional and unfair" and an infringement of individual rights.

The jurist made the declaration yesterday in refusing to sign show cause orders against 12 LaCrosse barbershops, shoe shops and beauty parlors, cited because of failure to secure licenses or on complaints of price cutting.

After listening to arguments by Fred M. Wyhe, representing the state trade practice division, Judge Cowie declared, "I believe the whole theory and plan of this law is unconstitutional and unfair."

"I am of the opinion," Cowie continued, "that the law is an infringement of the rights of an individual to earn an honest living."

"If it is a question of the sanitary regulation of barbershops, there isn't any question that the state has the right to do it, but I don't believe the state has any right to tell these fellows what to charge. I am not in sympathy with the law." The show cause orders had been intended to become effective July 6.

Hearing Postponed in Handset Charge Case

Madison — (AP) — The public service commission's hearing on the proposed suspension of the Wisconsin Telephone company's 86-cent annual charge for handset service, has been postponed from July 9 to July 23, the commission announced today.

The commission eliminated the charge in November, 1938, but reinstated it when the firm requested a rehearing. The further hearing was delayed to avoid interference with a general rate case then pending before the supreme court.

Handset charges amount to $125,000 a year, the commission said.

Hunch Was Good

Fond du Lac—Night Watchman Leslie Gibson was sitting in a chair in the basement of the building where he works when a storm blew up. He thought it would be a good idea to make sure all the upstairs doors and windows were closed. There was a blinding flash of lightning while he was upstairs. He returned to the basement and found his chair afire. The lightning apparently had traveled down a pipe directly above the chair.

Brine Comes Up in Oil Wells, It's Sent Right Down Again

Oklaheima City—From many of the prairies of inland Oklahoma it's less than a mile to salt water. That's because salt water lies directly below the rich oil fields. As an unwelcome by-product of 4,400,000 barrels of petroleum, there were 13,200,000 barrels of brine. That's enough salt water, experts say, to cover 400,000 acres six inches deep with dry salt.

Formerly, this brine was allowed to drain down natural water courses. Devastation followed. Towns dependent upon rivers for their water supply got a brackish and unhealthy fluid. Trees and crops along the streams withered and died. Livestock perished.

Then the state stepped in three years ago to halt further losses. The big companies, plagued by damage suits for millions of dollars, were glad to cooperate.

Engineers began putting the water back under ground. Today 300 disposal systems are pumping 150,000 barrels of brine daily into the earth. In terms of dry salt, that's six million pounds a day.

The oil companies paid the entire $1,500,000 cost of the systems, aided in technical phases of the installations by the Pollution Department of the State Division of Water Resources.

The disposal systems are relatively simple. A separator at or near the well cuts the brine away from the petroleum. Gravity lines carry the brine to a treating plant at the downhill end of the fields. There chemicals are added to coagulate the solids and the brine is run through a series of filters to take out impurities which might clog the permeable sands 500 to 7,000 feet below the surface, into which it is pumped.

Oil men's luck gave a fillip to construction of a disposal system by one petroleum company in Pontotoc county. At the lower end of the field, in territory believed to be "dry," drillers struck a 2,600-barrel-per-day gusher and had to move over a quarter mile before completing a successful dry hole.

Hand May Be Classed As Twin Steal

BY ELY CULBERTSON

It is my rule to publish only such hands as fall within the bounds of reason. By this I mean that if a completely insane bid or play is reported to me I see no purpose in passing it along. It cannot point a moral, hence is usually worthless from an educational standpoint. Occasionally, however, circumstances lead me to break this rule. Even when a bid or play is inexplicable the fact that it has been made by a better than average player suggests that other players might duplicate the error, hence it becomes worth discussing. All of which leads up to the following remarkable account:

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Your articles on contract bridge have been very interesting and I feel that I have gained considerable from them. However, I would like to see more articles covering sacrifice bidding. Take, for example, the following hand:

"East, dealer.

"North-South vulnerable.

 3 clubs 5 spades 4 clubs 4 hearts
 3 clubs 5 spades 5 clubs Double
 Pass Pass Pass

"This hand came up in a seven table duplicate game and at six of the tables North and South obtained the bid, most of them bidding the slam.

"East passed on the first round, feeling that his hand was too full of holes and too lacking in major suit support to go anywhere unless his partner could open the bidding. North's one spade bid after three passes was the direct cause of the final result. South's three spade bid over East's three clubs was a slight stretch, but as this was duplicate we cannot criticize the bid. West's four club bid was a stab in the back to deceive the opponents. North's four heart bid was astounding — with a two-suited hand and five-odd odd in his hand, six hearts or six spades possibly would have shut up the opponents. North's double of five clubs was, of course, unexplainable.

"The play of the hand was immaterial. North and South, in spite of this bad board, were the winning North-South pair and in a section made up of the strongest players. Some time ago I sent you a hand and in your article you stated that my bidding was like stealing candy from a baby. Well, maybe it was, but I think this hand might be classed as a double steal, as they say in baseball.

F. C. Chicago.

Until I read the part about this North-South team coming out first in the strongest section, I felt that there was no reason for reporting such a peculiar affair. North's bidding, from start to finish, was beyond anything I have seen and, by unreasonably, I put it down to total lack of experience. But after reading the entire letter my curiosity became strongly aroused. More and more I wrestled with the question, "What conceivable thought processes on North's part could have produced those bids?" I have no fault to find with the original spade bid. Indeed, with this freakish distribution I am inclined to think that the one spade opening was the soundest and most strategic bid. Despite North's tremendous power, he had only 3-1/2 plus honor tricks, hence a two-bid might be very unwise (North might find South with something like the A-K-Q of diamonds and the A-K-K-Q of hearts and thereby land in an unmakeable grand slam). The four heart bid, however, after South had found a free raise to three spades, was incomprehensible. North not only should have had six but, if he doubted, should promptly have redoubled.

But nothing in my experience approaches North's double of five clubs, and it is this bid which I should be very grateful to have explained by any one whose imagination can soar that far.

Beauty and You

If your knees are not as straight as they should be the chances are that you have been encouraging ugly leg and knee shape through postural faults! (Remember all my lectures about improving your posture?) For instance, when you stand with your feet apart and your weight resting on the inside of the foot you are flinching with knock-knees! The muscles of the calf will gradually lose all of its muscular development and will make the knee appear knobby and turned in.

To correct knock-knee position you must put your weight on the outer border of each foot and make the toes grip the floor. Gradually bring the feet close together (keeping above position) and you will notice how the legs show intention of straightening.

Don't Toe-In
 A leading beauty salon is paying particular attention to kneecap this season. They have a shadowgraph which reveals poor knee and leg formation. One common fault, they say, is that of toeing-in—the beginning of bow-legs! If you toe in when you walk, the muscles of your body must maintain a balance. They therefore pull your legs outward—or bow them. You must train your feet to remain in normal position—parallel, neither pointing outward or inward.

Standing on one foot, more than on the other, is another thing we should not do. One can actually make hips crooked, by standing on the same foot again and again. Check yourself and see if you do this. If you do, stand on your neglected foot most of the time for one week—then resolve to stand firmly on both feet all of the time, with your weight evenly distributed. If you don't you will find one shoulder drooping toward a crooked hip, and this figure isn't!

New Knee Exercise
 Because I have not enough space here to direct you further in knee beautification, I have prepared a leaflet giving four excellent knee exercises which are practiced daily in the classes of the salon to which I referred above. A request addressed to me

Good Taste Today by Emily Post

The following question sent me by a man is typical of those which can be answered—except, as a suggestion of how he can himself find out the reply: "What is a man supposed to do about his household possessions that he shared for twenty odd years with his first wife, after she dies and he wants to marry again? Is there any objection to expecting a second wife to live with these things?"

As I have just said, a question like this is too closely concerned with personal feelings, to have someone else guess what the answer might be. I can, however, advise that you try to find out what your second wife's feelings are—not by asking: "Do you mind using linen marked with Ruth's name?" but by taking it for granted that you have to get new linen because she wouldn't want her things marked with an R. If she agrees, you know she minds. If she says, "Oh, no, John, that she dies and she doesn't care," then you know she doesn't. I mention linen because linen marked with an R is what nearly every woman would mind. (This, by the way, is illustrated in the book and the picture "Rebecca"). On the other hand, a man would, I think, have a right to expect a second wife to accept his furniture and all unmarked belongings that were as much his own as they were Ruth's. The silver, if it was marked with her initials can easily be remarked with his. (This would be better than marking it with his second wife's because this would attract her attention to the fact that it had been changed. If it has his name, it will seem to have always been his.)

A Young Boy And His Manners
 Dear Mrs. Post: I am hoping my fifteen-year-old son will take it on your advice—he certainly doesn't on his mother's—that he should not let a young girl get out of a car unassisted.

Answer: Courtesy is something that every boy should be taught of course, although it is doubtful whether a boy should practice this particular exaction of courtesy on any but older ladies. To a girl (let alone a boy), of his own age, Alphonse-Gaston behavior is out of key—unless the girl is in a floor length party dress. She will be pleased to have him help her then, but at ordinary every day times, it is best for us of yesterday to be guided by what youth itself thinks it ought to do. I'm sure your son's friends will approve of his running to help your friends out of a car. But I'm really fearful of his being thought prissy if he practices dancing school manners elsewhere than at dances.

Return Address
 Dear Mrs. Post: Is it considered bad taste to write a return address on private letters? I've gathered you didn't think much of it.

Answer: When you are sure that the address is right, it is not necessary to put a return address on the envelope—unless you have a personal reason for doing so. When you are not certain about an address, it is advisable to include your own at the top left corner of both a business and a social letter. (This position is in compliance with a request from the post-office department.)

Be sure that your stationery and phraseology is correct, whenever you write a letter. Send for Emily Post's booklet, "The Etiquette of Letter Writing," enclosing ten cents. Address Emily Post, care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

Be Democratic But Insist on Good Manners, Sincerity

BY ANGELO PATRI

"No, count me out. I won't go to any place where those two boys go. They're too raw for me."

"O, Naomi, do be a little democratic. You don't want to be snobbish. It won't get you anything. How do you expect to be popular if you're not democratic?"

"I'd like to know why you mix bad manners, ignorant manners, uncouth language and behavior with democracy. Can't a democratic boy be a gentleman?"

"O, well, you know what I mean."

Far Below Standard
 "No, I don't, but I know what I mean all right. I mean I won't sit at the table with a boy or girl who eats with his knife, squats over his plate and shovels down mouthfuls of food with a noise like a suction pump. I won't go along with boys, or girls, who can't or won't use decent English."

"I can't see why being democratic should mean that one has to get down to the lowest level of the worst-mannered people on earth. If you're going to take the lowest I.Q. in manners and speech as the democratic ideal, why not say so and done with it? Count me out."

"Well, I know they act tough and all that, but they're good fun."

"I don't see the fun in eating like an animal, or in saying such things as, 'Dat dere guy's a hunk o' cheese.' I don't think it's a bit funny to have a boy like that paw me over, either. I am as much democratic as anybody but I just can't see where the good of the group is forwarded by taking the worst we have instead of the best as the standard. If that's it I'll stay with my own crowd and call us what you like."

Avoid Those Who Sham
 To which I heartily agree. The secondary schools and colleges have opened their doors wide enough to take in all comers, prepared or not, willing or unwilling, able and unfit alike. The ones who CAN'T soon begin to pose to impress their inability to meet standards upon those who can, as the swagger gesture, the thing to do. The democratic way of life, according to this, is the way of least resistance for them. They are ignorant and weak and undisciplined. Consequently, those who are informed, strong and disciplined are snobs while they in their uncouthness represent the people's strength and simplicity.

Daughter Is Apt to Resent Mother Who Is Too Curious

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I have the best of husbands and a nice home, but my heart is breaking over the way my only child treats me. It isn't that her conduct causes me any anxiety. She is a good girl, a senior in high school and she gets fine marks, but she just won't confide in me. I long for her to tell me everything she does and thinks. I want to hear all about her friends and what they do, but she never has anything to say unless I ask her, and then she says no more than is necessary. I come from a very large and sociable family, and I love to have some one to talk things over with, but I can't get anything out of my daughter. Even when I scold her for staying at her girl friend's house as late as 10 o'clock at night, all that she says is that she is sorry. She lets me say whatever I want to, but never tries to explain her side of the story. I crave companionship and friendly people about me, and it makes me so unhappy for my daughter to act so cold and indifferent toward me. Can you suggest a method of handling her?

A SAD MOTHER.

Dorothy Dix Answer:

Yes, I can, but it is one that you will not like and perhaps you are constitutionally unable to follow it. It is to let the poor girl alone and quit trying to pry into her thoughts and check up on all she does. Respect her privacy.

Also, recognize that the girl is what nature made her, just as you are.

You are of the gabby type, while she is silent. You never tire of the sound of your own voice and you are just bound to talk everything over with anybody who will listen to you, and to tell everything you know, while speech comes hard to your daughter. It is agony to her to express her inner feelings and she simply cannot turn out all the contents of her mind for the amusement even of her mother.

It is unfortunate when girls do not, as the phrase goes, take after their mothers and have the same characteristics, because it makes for congeniality for them to like the same things and enables them to get along better together.

But if they aren't, I'm mother was a beauty and Mary is homely; if mother loved gaiety and parties and Sally is a bookworm, there is nothing she can do about it. Old Mother Nature had the first say in the matter.

There is no complaint that mothers make oftener against their daughters than that they don't confide in them. Somehow, mothers feel that they have a right to probe into their daughters' most secret thoughts and feelings, and they feel much aggrieved when they do not "come clean," as they say in police circles when they put a suspect through the third degree.

Sometimes a girl is inarticulate, as your daughter is. She simply can't talk.

But sometimes a girl doesn't tell mother all because she resents mother's vulgar curiosity. She feels that mother has no right to violate her privacy, and it is nobody's business but her own what she says to Mamie and Mamie says to her, and what their little innocent plans are.

Sometimes girls don't confide in mother because mother is a blab, who tells everything she knows, and they don't want their affairs to be discussed all over the neighborhood.

And often a girl doesn't tell mother everything, because mother feels it her sacred duty to correct her and say "don't," and throw a wet blanket over everything she wants to do. The girl finds out that what mother doesn't know doesn't hurt her.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

Here is a typical "wolf man" but we would all show equal disdain for property rights and morality if somebody hadn't taught us differently. Each new generation of children must be educated in our democratic ideals as well as in morality, or we'll drop into communism and degeneracy within the short span of a single generation.

CASE R-108: Max B., aged 61, is a physician friend of mine. "You remember that new house I've been building?" he asked. "Well, for several nights lately, lumber and bricks have been disappearing."

"Early yesterday morning I heard a noise next door, and saw a truck backed up against my lumber pile.

"I hurried out and found a fellow piling my lumber in his truck. Naturally, I protested.

"But I'm building a house, too," said the thief.

"That doesn't justify your taking the lumber I have paid for," I replied.

"Well, it's a free country, ain't it?" he glibly retorted. Dr. Crane, what is this country coming to, any way?"

DIAGNOSIS:

There is little morality in a nation where each crop of children is not specifically trained in honesty and the Golden Rule.

Now can we expect our people to show consideration for the property of others, if they haven't gone to Sunday school or haven't received similar diligent ethical training at home?

The reason why I seem to harp upon this subject so often in this column is not that I am trying to preach to you.

I am a psychologist and a physician. As such, therefore, I will realize that we cannot hope to retain a democratic government and a moral people unless we diligently educate our children in such subjects.

We don't expect dogs to show any consideration for fences or other evidences of private property rights. Even your best trained canine has no compunction about helping himself to the pork chops lying on your neighbor's back porch.

Going To The Dogs
 This nation will go to the dogs, also, if we don't take our youth and teach them right versus wrong.

People never inherit a conscience or sense of ethical values. At birth our babies are just as selfish as any dog or wolf. They will not even share with their own brothers and sisters till mother repeatedly insists on the "bigger half of the apple" technique.

Even then, it requires years of such daily and weekly training in moral habits before we have a law-abiding individual to replace the little savage who uttered the first birth cry.

A good mother cannot bequeath her noble sentiments and high ideals to her children by means of inheritance through the germ plasm. She cannot even inoculate him against evil by cherishing him nine months in her womb.

Her supposedly cherubic infant may go to the electric chair just as fast as any other crook, if she doesn't drill morality into his nervous system.

Criminals Are Educated That Way

Honest people are educated that way, just as a musician must learn to play the piano or violin by diligent study under a teacher thereof. Criminals are also trained to be crooks by errors of omission if not actual errors of commission. Many a supposedly good mother has taught her child to be a thief or a murderer by her failure to punish him in childhood.

Her errors may be those of omission, but a murderer or a thief can be educated to such lawlessness through the "omission" route almost as quickly as through the "commission" method.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE HOME Marie Schneider's Tested Recipes

CHOCOLATE DELICACIES

"Now what can I serve that everyone likes?" you ask yourself when you plan party refreshments. And if you decide on "something chocolate" you're sure to be right. For chocolate is America's favorite flavor.

In a test I heard of recently, where over a million housewives voted, do you u

Miss Schneider knew what cake proved most popular? Chocolate cake with fudge frosting.

Every dessert maker has at her fingertips a score of chocolate recipes but she is always on the alert for more. For the warm day when a smooth, creamy mold sprinkled with nutmeats is desired, there's a pecan chocolate mousse, temptingly served in tall sherbet glasses direct from the refrigerator. Women new to the hostess role may expect enthusiastic approval when pecan chocolate mousse is the dessert they are serving.

Chocolate Fudge Cake

1 cup shortening 1 teaspoon soda
 2 cups brown sugar (packed in cup) 1/2 cup sour cream
 2 eggs 2-3 cup hot water
 3 tablespoons cocoa 2-3 teaspoon vanilla
 2 cups cake flour

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream until fluffy. Add whole eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each one is added. Blend hot water and cocoa together. Sift flour once before measuring. Sift flour, soda and salt together and add to creamed mixture alternately with the sour cream and cocoa mixture. Blend in cut-up nuts and vanilla. Pour into well greased and floured cake pan, 8 by 12 inches, or two 8-inch round layer pans. Bake 40 to 45 minutes for oblong cake or 35 minutes for layers.

Fudge Icing

2 squares unsweetened chocolate 2 tablespoons light corn syrup
 2 cups sugar 2 tablespoons butter
 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon vanilla

Cut up chocolate in saucpan. Add sugar, salt, milk and corn syrup. Mix thoroughly. Cook without stirring until mixture forms a soft ball when dropped into cold water. Remove from heat. Add butter. Let stand until lukewarm. Add vanilla. Beat until thick enough to hold its shape. If the icing seems to stiffen too quickly, thin it a bit with cream.

Chocolate Pecan Mousse

2 squares unsweetened chocolate 1 cup pecans, broken
 1 cup milk 1 cup cream, whipped
 1-3 cup sugar 1 package strawberry flavored gelatin
 4 egg yolks

Add chocolate to milk and heat in double boiler. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Combine sugar and slightly beaten egg yolks. Add small amount of chocolate mixture, stirring vigorously. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add gelatin and salt and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chill. When slightly thickened add vanilla and fold in nuts and cream. Chill and serve in sherbet glasses.

HIGH TIDE By Frances Hanna

YESTERDAY: Jan puts Johnny in his place. She is pleased when Lance finds Derek a good listener, although "too close-mouthed" about himself.

Chapter Six
 No Work No Eat
 "You asked Derek not to tell me about his suicide attempt?" repeated Lance. "Because of my reaction?" Don't be a silly goose, Sis. In my opinion it takes a lot more courage to live than die. I told him so, but he didn't agree. Please, honey, don't ever let anything like that worry you. I know when I get those fits of depression I say I'd rather be dead, but I don't mean it. Not so long as I have you. I guess I just have to let off steam when the pressure gets too high."

She dropped to her knees beside his chair and laid her cheek against his hand. "He wants to stay here with us, Lance. I've got a crazy idea I can do something for him, readjust him, somehow. Have I a crusader's complex, do you think?"

"A too developed maternal complex, I'd say. You always did drag

Gay Dress

BY ANNE ADAMS

Your "work-a-day" cotton frock may be both practical and abloom. Anne Adams proves this point with Pattern 4386—a gay style that's perfect to live in from sun-up to sundown. It's made in just a few pattern parts, with waistline seams omitted and smooth lines given by darting. The yoke "copy cats" the line of the neck—an effect that may be accented by ric-rac or ruffled edging. Use more of the trim for the smart optional pockets and on the puffed sleeves which may have pointed tabs. You might choose the cool, flaring sleeve style instead. For extra color, why not consider making yoke, pockets and sleeve tabs in fresh contrast?

Pattern 4386 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and 2 1/2 yards ric-rac. ## THE HOME GARDENER by EDWIN H. PERKINS

This is the big flying season for Japanese beetles. While some communities escape the ravages done by these pests—and they should be thankful—there are still some sections which sustain heavy annual losses from them.

Japanese beetle eggs are laid in the soil where they go through a long period of incubation during which the larvae feed on grass and other plant roots. Saturating the soil with arsenate of lead water effectively kills these grubs and its use has saved many otherwise doomed lawns and gardens. Many persons, however, labor under the notion that such soil preparations are harmful to their gardens and thus encourage growth of this pest. Were all soil thought to contain Japanese beetle grubs treated with arsenate of lead, we would not have them flying at this time. While in the flight stage they travel long distances daily and may alight anywhere and make ruins of otherwise handsome ornamental or fruitful stock.

Repellence is the only avenue open to gardeners as protection against Japanese beetle blitzkriegs. Several excellent preparations which repel them are commercially available. Their use is recommended; they are the best of remedies. Use them according to manufacturer's directions and practice extreme care while spraying early maturing fruit lest the value of the fruit be impaired.

Beetle traps baited with an attractive oil are also used. While these traps cut short the travels of large numbers of Japanese beetles, they are also likely to cause the user more beetle damage than is suffered by neighbors who do not use them.

My Neighbor Says—

Keep a large shaker containing six parts salt to one part pepper on the shelf of your kitchen range to use in seasoning foods.

To measure a cupful, a tablespoonful of any dry ingredient, fill utensil full, but do not pack. Level off with a knife.

Glass stoppers may be easily removed from bottles if a towel is dipped into boiling water and wrapped around the neck of bottle for a few minutes.

Best for such kinds as lilyum auratum, and the speciosum lilium.

When buttering sandwiches dip knife in hot water frequently and it will be much easier to spread the butter.

To soften shoes that have become stiff when dried after having been water-soaked, wash them first with warm water and rub petroleum ointment into them.

Lawrence Coeds To Get Handbook

Not only dormitory regulations and sorority rushing rules, but also a glossary of commonly used Lawrence terms are included in the new Lawrence college handbook for women students, just published.

It won't sound like a strange new language to freshmen coeds next September when they hear upper-classmen talk about the "con," the frolic, a spread, "lit," the stacks or being campused. By fall these freshmen will have memorized their glossary, and they'll know that "con" refers to the conservatory of music, that the frolic is the very informal dance held Friday nights at the little gymnasium, that a spread means to Lawrence girls "a female bull session with refreshments," that "lit" is short for literature, that the stacks are the bookshelves, most secluded place in the library, and that being campused means the loss of various privileges because of infraction of the rules.

Next fall's sorority rushing schedule begins Sunday, Sept. 15, the booklet announces. Each of the six sororities on the campus, Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Delta and Phi Phi Gamma, will entertain at tea that afternoon at the home of an alumna. Pledging will take place the following Sunday, Sept. 22.

Council May Act On Improvement Of Park Courts

Board Chairman Is Expected To Report On Black-Top Costs

New London — Estimates of the cost of black-topping two tennis courts at Hatten park are expected to come before the common council as that body holds its monthly meeting tonight in the city hall.

At the June 18 session Alderman William Latta, park board chairman, asked that the courts be so improved. Mayor Lynn Springmire brought up the question of cost, and Latta replied that he would present figures tonight. If the cost is such that the park budget will not be exceeded the work may be allowed. The other two courts at the park already have been black-topped.

The aldermen may learn from the state highway department its decision in regard to installing traffic lights at the intersection of Highways 45 and 54. Department officials have said they would try to secure the improvement at state expense; if this could not be done the city might furnish electric power to run the signals. The chief of police has been instructed to prepare a list of accidents which happened at this intersection and submit it to the department.

in stray cats and pups when you were a little kid. Mother used to have a fit, but Dad always made up excuses for you."

"It seems like more than four years since—"

"I'm glad they went before this happened to me. It would have hurt them so." She sensed his withdrawal from the pain of remembering. He went on: "It doesn't seem very provident to keep the fellow here, Jan. We have so little as it is and we've talked of taking in another roomer this summer."

"Lance, will it be all right if I promise to make him useful?" she pleaded. "I'll try to make him a paying proposition, if I can. There's jobs to be had around here with summer coming on. Maybe Captain Tupples will take him on one of his fishing barges."

Lance patted her wind-tumbled hair. "All right, baby, if it'll make you happy to have a stray man to fret over."

"Johnny was so mean about it this morning," she said in a little-girl voice against the woolly blanket. "He suspects Derek of everything from larceny to mayhem."

"Well, I hope Johnny isn't right," Lance sighed.

She looked up, defiance in her deep blue eyes. "You don't think he's a criminal, Lance?"

"I don't know anything to think, Jan. But your man had better make good or Johnny and I will both annihilate him!"

Put on the defensive she deliberately submerged any doubts she herself had. "He's a fine person," she declared. "I'll prove it to you. Wait and see."

She stirred to action. She would find Derek and tell him he had to get a job right away.

But Derek was nowhere in the house, she found. He must have gone for a walk, and here she was in a mood to talk to him without mincing words. Later she might not be, her moods were so evanescent.

Disturbed, nervous, not nearly so sure as she'd tried to make Lance believe, she sought the grand piano and the soothing touch of its keys. Although she did not practice enough to play really well, her fingers were light and facile and drew comfort for her from the classics she loved. In the semi-dark of the familiar, friendly living room she dropped to the piano bench and let her fingers drift into the sad beauty of Schubert's Serenade.

Enrapt, singing the words softly to herself, she didn't hear the door open nor did she see Derek come in. When the last tone sighed into silence she looked up and saw him. The expression on his face startled her, hurt her in some vague manner she could not comprehend. It was an expression of torment, of agonizing frustration. Then a smooth, blank, mask covered it and she felt as if, for a fleeting moment, she had been permitted to look into his soul.

Lines of Campaign Attacks On Willkie Are Taking Shape

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—The main direction of the Democratic attack upon Wendell Willkie has been set already in several statements from responsible spokesmen of the Roosevelt administration. They will picture Willkie as the tool of a big-business conspiracy with fascist inclinations. Apparently effort will be made to play upon the bad name which the utility industry received in the Insull affair and other scandals. The first and immediate objective is to discredit Willkie in the public mind.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, father of TVA, branded Willkie as "Insull the second." Norris said "The power trust was behind him and gave him this nomination." A footnote on that is Willkie's story that he had a run-in with Insull some years ago. As a young utility lawyer, Willkie questioned to Insull's face some of the things that were being done, saying they were injurious to the utility business and would bring public disapproval. Insull rebuked him and said there was no place in the utility business for a young man holding such views.

Clapper Regarding the charge that the power trust gave Willkie the nomination, the facts are that many utility executives favored his nomination and so did a vast number of persons with no utility connections whatever. Convention delegates at Philadelphia were ready to scuttles Willkie so long as they thought only big business was behind him. They caved in only after it was obvious that popular pressure was too strong to resist.

Senator Connally of Texas, one of the Democratic flame-throwers, sharpened the Norris point with the wisecrack that Willkie had "an electric background, an electric personality and an electric campaign chest." President Roosevelt at his press conference slyly pointed to the Apparently Willkie's line will be to preach national unity in a time of crisis, while the Democrats will try to rekindle the fires of popular hate against business with the tricks that worked so successfully in the two previous Roosevelt campaigns. Whether there is still a third victory in them, or whether the country is moving into a new mood favoring less strife and more teamwork, remains to be seen.

Willkie has not indicated how he will meet this attack. However, in his brief remarks to the Philadelphia convention he said he would conduct a crusading campaign "to bring unity to America, to bring the unity of labor and capital, agriculture and manufacturer, farmer and worker, and all classes to this great cause of the preservation of freedom."

Tony and Max Mix Tonight

Report Baer Taking Bout Seriously

Jersey City, N. J. — (AP) — Those two upstanding heavyweights, Tony Galento and Max Baer, meet in a 15-round fight at the local ball park tonight, providing of course, that Tony doesn't get crowned by a relative before he can climb into the ring.

Around 30,000 fans were expected to watch the two veterans fight it out (about 8 o'clock C.S.A.) for the right to meet champion Joe Louis in a September bout. At least, Galento is assured another shot at the champion if he wins tonight. Baer might possibly line himself up for a return with Louis, somewhere, but he would have to whip the socks off Galento to make Promoter Mike Jacobs and the customers forget his last outing with the big Negro.

Nothing has happened to change the widespread opinion that Galento will win, probably by a knockout. Tony couldn't possibly get himself into poorer physical condition at the last minute than the experts have thought him to be for a week or two, and the cut he received on his chin from a flying beer glass night before last didn't mar his sterling fighting qualities.

In all the excitement attending Tony's bout with the beer glass, practically nothing has been heard of Baer for a couple of days. So quiet has Max been, indeed, that he has some observers believing he finally has become serious about this boxing business.

Max has been a little grimmer than ever before and his statements have been less extravagant. Those close to him say he honestly has been burned about some of Galento's remarks and is sore at the bartender. If that is true, then this might be quite a fight.

Club Is Ready For Dog Show

50 Breeds Expected At Fond du Lac for July 4 Exhibition

Neenah — Famous dogs, famous judges, famous personages of the world of canines will help make the third annual dog show of the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club, July 4, the greatest event of its kind in the state, a committee spokesman said today. Several hundred dogs of about 50 different breeds will be bunched at the big county highway garage in Fond du Lac, he stated.

Judging is scheduled to start at 10:00 a. m. and continue until 9:00 p. m., when the best dog in the show will be selected by Reginald Sparks, Ontario, Canada. Henry M. Oppenheimer, will know throughout the west, is coming all the way from San Francisco to judge sporting dogs, hounds, working dogs, and toys.

During the class judging, the obedience tests will be in full swing, and an afternoon and evening performance of the famous Willy Necker trained dog act will be staged. Necker's dogs are known from coast to coast, and during the recent International show in Chicago he played to some 30,000 thrilled spectators. Canine champions are expected in numbers, and some of the best show dogs in the country will likely be competing for the huge best in show trophy. In addition to the well known dogs, judges and handlers, editors of some of the largest dog magazines are expected on hand to personally cover the proceedings.

Facilities at the county garage are considered perfect by experts who attended the previous two shows. It is clean, well lighted, and convenient. There is plenty of free parking space, and a good lunch and refreshment counter in operation throughout the day.

Marion Brewers Cop Sixth Straight Game

Marion — The Marion Brewers won their sixth consecutive game Sunday, by downing the Bear Creekers, 8 to 2. The game was played on the local diamond, before a large crowd. Manfred Krueger, pitching for the Brewers, chalked up his fourth win and allowed the Creekers nine scattered hits. Norder and Fitzgerald divided the pitching duties for Bear Creek and were combed for eleven hits. Borchardt led the Brewer hitters with three blows followed by Elandt and Radke with two each. Marion opened the scoring in the second inning and added two more runs in the fourth. This gave the Brewers a three run lead which they increased later in the game. The Creekers rallied in the sixth and ninth innings.

Next Sunday the Brewers travel to Big Falls where they will meet a much improved team. This will be the first meeting of the teams this season and a hard game is expected.

Don McNeill Winner of Collegiate Tennis Title

Haverford, Pa. — (AP) — Sandy-haired Don McNeill needed only an hour to win his second tennis title within a week and bring little Kenyon college its first big-time championship.

Flouring on a blistering pace, the Ohio collegian whipped Joe Hunt of the Naval academy yesterday in the straight sets, 7-5, 6-1, 6-1, in the finals of the national intercollegiate tournament at the Merion Cricket club.

A week ago McNeill, ranked third nationally, beat Bobby Riggs at Chicago for the national clay courts crown.

TONIGHT'S GAME
Manitowoc at Kaukauna

THURSDAY'S GAME
Oshkosh at Manitowoc (10:30 a. m.)

Kaukauna — The league leading Kaukauna Mellow Brews will be after their sixth straight win in the Fox River valley circuit in their game with the strong Manitowoc club here tonight. The game will start under the lights at 8:15. Ray Diederick, who pitched five of the Brews' victories, will be on the mound tonight. He will have his hands full with the lake city boys, who are holding on to second place in the league with a strong grasp. In a double bill over the weekend, Manitowoc trimmed Neenah 16 to 8 but suffered their first defeat of the season at the hands of the Menasha Falcons, 7 to 2.

Center fielder Kujava is the big gun in the chipper's attack, getting four safe bingles in ten appearances at the plate Sunday.

Although this game should end the first half schedule for the Kaws, a protest from Oshkosh resulted in an order to replay the Oshkosh-Kaukauna game, which the Brews won. Reason for the protest was the presence of Lefty Joe Petcka of Clintonville on the mound for Kaukauna. Oshkosh objected that Petcka plays with Clintonville in the Northern State league and may not play in another league.

Manager Gantter will stick to his regular line-up, with Peck doing the catching; Lefty Diederick, Van Drasek, Schuler and Wagester in the infield; Ves Kappell, Vils and Busse in the outfield.

Divot Diggings

There's going to be some mighty interesting golf played in the Northeastern Wisconsin teaming at Butte des Morts July 11, 12 and 13 and the average golfer will find it worth his while from the standpoint of entertainment and instruction to trans around behind the competitors and see how they do it. It's really fun to see golf as it should be played and galleries can pick up a plenty of pointers to better their own games. And galleries lend color to any golfing event but they can be a nuisance to players if they don't observe ordinary courtesies and simple golf etiquette, the kind that could be employed more freely in everyday play. Here are a few tips for the tournament spectator: Don't move or talk while the player is addressing the ball or in the act of hitting it; Don't cut across fairways; Don't walk on the greens; Don't walk through sandtraps—a heel print may cost your favorite stroke; Always stay behind the players; Don't stand in the line of play; Give the players plenty of room.

Dr. D. M. Galtner got hold of one Saturday and almost drove No. 1 green at Riverview Country club. He smacked the ball 307 yards for the longest drive of his life and was just 35 feet short of the green. He probably would have made the green if the ground had not been so wet.

Don Hutson, Clarke Hinkle and Cecil Isbell, the Green Bay Packers football stars and rabid Butte des Morts golf fans, are agreed that both balls and cups should be larger. Would it follow then that fairways should be longer?

Fishing, they say, is very good on the first nine at Butte des Morts. The first nine has been closed since "the rains came" and holes No. 1, 3 and 4 have been at the bottom of a foot and a half of water. Officials are hoping the water will disappear before July 4.

A sore back is cramping Lee Barlament's style at Riverview.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Harold Clift and Rip Radcliff, Browns—Former hit home run and latter doubled for 2-1 triumph over Indians.

Madison Gets 5 Hits
And Loses to Moline

By The Associated Press
Cedar Rapids is enjoying another one of its spurts, but the Raiders haven't been able to make much of a dent in Clinton's slim first place in the Three Eye League.

The Raiders smacked Springfield around again last night, 13 to 5, on a 17-hit attack, but the leaders maintained their one-game advantage by outlasting Evansville, 6 to 5. Clinton had the game sewed up until Evansville scored four runs in the eighth, tying the score until the leaders moved ahead again in their half.

Roman Roh gave Waterloo only eight hits but that was enough for the cellarites to defeat Decatur, 6 to 1. Prince gave the Commodies only two hits. Moline's Mekeli was almost as stingy, setting Madison down with five hits for an 11 to 4 decision.

in front. Many pitchers specialize in this throw and use it very effectively.

Next to throwing effectively, a pitcher's best asset is a retentive memory. By being able to remember a batter's hitting habits and weaknesses the pitcher himself can change many potential base hits to weak grounders or pop flies by "puttin' em where the sticker doesn't like 'em."

The Weak Spots
Most vulnerable points of any batter are the four corners of the strike area, low outside, high outside, low inside, and high inside. An unknown batter's stance may tip off a wise pitcher about the batter's weakness.

There's a lot of psychology in pitching, too. Some batters can be worried by slow, deliberate preparation by the hurler. Quick deliveries fool some. And the help of a "signal thief" is invaluable. If one of your teammates is wise to the opposing team's signals he can advise the pitcher when to throw a pitch-out to catch an intended steal.

Fielding from the pitching position is not difficult after the pitcher has learned the one cardinal rule: Never get off balance and be ready, at all times, for any kind of a hit ball.

Browns Beat Indians, 2-1

St. Louis Is Outhit But Takes Win

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Browns better not expect any more "help" from their fellow American league clubs.

The team that finished a poor eighth last year is causing more turmoil than the junior circuit has known in years.

The Browns knocked the Boston Red Sox out of first place ten days ago and last night they undermined the Cleveland Indians' standing with a 2-1 victory. This shaved the Tribe's first place margin to a single game over the Detroit Tigers.

Cliff Hites Homer

In fifth place, were held to seven hits by Joe Dobson, but one was a home run by Harold Clift and the other was a double by Rip Radcliff, who went to third on an infield out and scored on a wild pitch.

This was only one of five games in the major leagues yesterday won by the team making the fewer hits.

The St. Louis Cardinals crowded out the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 with a similar maneuver. Lon Warneke gave seven hits, but was tight in the ninth. The Cards were tied on five, but two were home runs by Eno Slaughter accounting for all St. Louis' runs.

The Brooklyn Dodgers got seven hits and the Phillies eight, but Brooklyn triumphed 4-3 with the help of a three-run assault on Hugh Mulcahy in the first inning. Afterward the Dodgers learned Pitterman Mungo had undergone an arm operation at Baltimore. He'll be retained as a coach.

The Giants crushed the Boston Bees 7-1, although they had only a 4-6 advantage in hits. Three of the blows were home runs.

Cubs Defeated

The Pittsburgh Pirates edged out the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 10 innings although out-hit 11-8. Vince DiMaggio hit his ninth homer for Pittsburgh to tie the score in the ninth and in the tenth, relief pitcher Claude Passeau forced over the winning run with a walk.

Big Buck Newsum got his eleventh victory as the Detroit Tigers took the Chicago White Sox into camp 3-1. Here again, the Tigers were outhit 6-5, but the only time Newsum let a runner get past second was in the fourth when the Sox scored through an error by Dick Bartell. A double by Hank Greenberg and a triple by Charlie Gehringer figured in Detroit's runs.

The New York Yankees and Washington Senators shared 20 hits evenly, but the world champions easily won 8-4 with the help of five Washington errors and the wildness of Hal Chase, who hit three batters, walked four and made two wild pitches.

The day's only game decided strictly on slugging was a 9-1 triumph by the Philadelphia Athletics over the struggling Boston Red Sox. The A's made 15 hits, two of them home runs by Catcher Frank Hayes.

Valley League Gossip

Kimberly Papermakers have finally hit their stride, and have won their last two games. Friday night they defeated Oshkosh, 5 to 2, and downed Appleton Red Sox, 5 to 1, Wednesday evening. They still have a postponed game to play with Menasha this week.

Kaukauna eked out a close win over Billy Handler's Neenah Merchants with a squeeze play being executed in the eleventh. Ben Peck laid down a neat bunt to score Howie Wurdinger after Wurdinger smashed a triple.

Norm Pope made a sensational catch of Tuffy Horn's drive to deep center to receive a big hand from the large crowd at the Kimberly-Appleton Red Sox game.

Sven Bowman, Kimberly, received a weeks suspension for his tilt with Umpire Schultz and will not be able to play until next Sunday. The first suspension will be mild in comparison to the next if the umpire is shoved around again it is said. All players have been warned to keep hands off the arbitrators.

Next Sunday's games will have Appleton Red Sox invading the Gettelmans park at Appleton, Kaukauna will trek to Manitowoc for the Fischl Dairy teams' booster game, Menasha will show at Kimberly and Neenah treks to Oshkosh. They are opening games of the second half. The June 30 games which were postponed to later dates will be made up during the round.

Cully Zinth and Nubs Kroening showed with the Oshkosh Cubs at Kimberly last Friday night. Kroening won six games but one with Oshkosh was thrown out due to Lefty Petek being in the Mellow Brew lineup. This game may be the deciding battle if Oshkosh can defeat Manitowoc on July 4 and Manitowoc knocks off Kaukauna tonight. Oshkosh only has one loss. The title game will be played next Sunday night at Kaukauna if it materializes.

Neenah outhit Manitowoc 16 to 10 last Saturday but was outscored, 16 to 8, Sunday it led up to the eighth and then stumbled to lose 16 to 6.

The first half title race is nearing its end with Kaukauna on the inside track with five straight wins. It won six games but one with Oshkosh was thrown out due to Lefty Petek being in the Mellow Brew lineup. This game may be the deciding battle if Oshkosh can defeat Manitowoc on July 4 and Manitowoc knocks off Kaukauna tonight. Oshkosh only has one loss. ## Two Runs in Seventh Decide Outcome of Tilt at Milwaukee

Milwaukee —(AP)— Two runs in the seventh inning gave the Kansas City Blues a 3 to 2 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers in an American association opener before 1,500 fans here last night.

The Blues, who outhit Milwaukee 14-7, manufactured their winning margin on a short run by Johnny Riddle and three successive singles off Joe Dickinson, Brewer relief hurler.

Paul Sullivan, Milwaukee's starting moundman, was knocked unconscious in the third. Running from first to second base after a teammate singled, Sullivan was struck in the face by a ball thrown by Phil Rizzuto.

Southpaw Harry Brecheen of Columbus went the route in a 17-inning game and lost the decision, 5 to 2 to Indianapolis. He allowed only 11 hits, struck out 14 batters and walked five.

The teams were scheduled for two games, but the nightcap was called at the end of the first inning because of the midnight curfew rule.

Louisville defeated Toledo, 3 to 2, climbing from sixth to fourth over the St. Paul and Columbus.

Northern State Notes

Clintonville split even in its weekend games. The Truckers dropped a 6-5 thriller to the Shipbuilders at Manitowoc Sunday morning while in the afternoon Felts and company took a fall out of the Polar Bears at Two Rivers, 6-1.

The Cincinnati Buckeyes, a crack colored squad, found the going plenty tough at Seymour but managed to squeeze out a 3-1 victory over Bill Row's aggregation. Don Slawons went the route for Seymour and pitched a swell game.

The revamped New London club is booked for a game at Clintonville on July 4 while next Sunday the High Lifes will be back on their home lot to tackle their bitter enemies, Seymour, in an argument under the lights.

Seymour pulled one out of the fire against Two Rivers with a spurt in the eighth inning which set the stage for a 4-3 victory. This victory moved Row and company into second position in the Northern State league standings.

Two Rivers' has picked up a hustling backstop, John Lachowicz, who has been performing with the Guils of the Cool City. Lachowicz pegs to second at thunderbolt speed and he has been looking pretty good up there at the plate.

Dick Weiserger, the Seymour slabster, made a successful bow as a pinch hitter in the Two Rivers game at Appleton. Dick swung in the eighth and it was his single that brought Eggert and Lamers home with the winning runs.

Suscha, the Manitowoc shortstop, continues to play a brilliant brand of ball. He is all over the infield and his ability to throw from any position nips a lot of runners at first base. He is hitting way above par.

Mitch Laurent has made himself useful in many ways than one with the Two Rivers squad. Laurent has filled in at shortstop and also did a turn in the outfield. One of these days he may bob up as a pitcher or backstop.

Norm Chusman has started to hit them again. The Seymour third sacker, who played with Green Bay for many years, was off to a slow start with his willow but he is getting the range these days and his batting average will climb fast.

The pace setting Manitowoc club has its hands full this week. On July 4, the Ships are going to Seymour in a morning game and Sunday Seymour is back there again for another "A. M." contest. In the afternoon the Ships play at Two Rivers.

Ziggy Zigmund, first assistant to Manager Al Borths of Manitowoc is enjoying himself much this season as he is riding along on a winner. Zigmund does the coaching at first base and he always stirs up something, even the dirt.

Ken Herman is a 'stylist' around the redlight station for Two Rivers. He is an easy fliedler and makes the toughest chances look 'soft'. Herman is not a heavy hitter but he hits in the clutch and his blows mean runs.

HITLER'S DRIVE

U-Visited Mussolini

When Hitler was named as Germany's chancellor, it gave him an opening to become dictator. He wanted to copy Mussolini, and he intended to obtain more power than any German chancellor ever had held before.

The world has heard a great deal about others in the Nazi circle. They include Goebbels, Goering, Hess and Roehm.

Those men were plotters, and they made ready to help Hitler seize complete power in Germany. The burning of the Reichstag took place at a time when it could help to bring this about. It is widely believed that the Nazis set the building on fire so they could blame it on the Communists. In any case, they used the fire as an excuse to stamp out the Communist party in Germany, and then took over full charge of the country.

In March, 1934, Hitler went to Italy to visit Mussolini. He acted very "modestly" while there, and made out that he thought Mussolini to be a great hero. Back in his mind, perhaps, was the belief that some day he would have far more power than the Italian "Duce."

Soon after that visit, a Brown-shirt plot against Hitler is believed to have been under way. At any rate a "blood purge" was carried out. Hitler personally helped hunt down and kill some of his comrades, including Captain Roehm.

Germany was bound by treaty to hold down the size of her army, and not to build forts in the Rhineland, within range of the French border.

Hitler sent an army into the Rhineland. As a Nazi told me later this was "nothing but a bluff." If France had struck a blow at that time, the Nazi army would have run back where it had come from.

That was only the first of many bluffs by Hitler. Time after time, he broke agreements in the Versailles treaty. The first time or two, he said he was going to stand by the rest of the treaty, but there came a day when he felt strong enough to declare he would destroy almost every part of the treaty.

"We want all Germans in Germany!" shouted Hitler. "Austria should be part of the Third Reich!" (For History section of your scrapbook.)

Radio Program Will Open Week Of Homecoming

Milwaukee Station To Salute Kaukauna On City Anniversary

Kaukauna — As a part of the sesquicentennial program that will push everything else out of the limelight in August, Kaukauna will be saluted over radio station WTMJ at Milwaukee, Aug. 11, first day of homecoming week.

Word of the arrangements came in a letter to J. Nolan, vice chairman of the sesquicentennial, from George Comte, announcer of the program, which salutes a Wisconsin city each week. The letter read, "We will be more than delighted to visit Kaukauna. How would you like to be saluted on Aug. 11?"

Recordings of the program will be made in Kaukauna on Wednesday, Aug. 7, when the radio station equipment will be brought here and the interviews put on records.

Appearing on the program will be a group of civic officials and leaders, who will tell the radio audience about various phases of Kaukauna and its history, and take part in interviews.

Mayor to Talk
According to the tentative program outlined by announcer Comte, Mayor William Gantner will give a short talk about the city, describing its location and industries.

Kaukauna's historical background will be presented in an interview with Joseph C. McCarty, president of the Outagamie County Historical society, and E. F. Rennie, co-chairman of the sesquicentennial committee.

The story of paper in Kaukauna and in the Fox River valley will be told by Arthur Schmalz of the Thimble Pulp and Paper company. Announcer Comte liked the idea of the talk on paper, because the programs on state cities have not yet dealt with any paper producing city.

An interview on shipping on the river will be conducted with Ben Prugh, head of the Fox River Navigation company here.

The radio script for the program will be prepared by T. J. Nolan and Miss Alicemay Whittier, secretary to the sesquicentennial, in conjunction with announcer Comte. Nolan and Comte are college friends, having worked in the radio speech department at the University of Wisconsin together, and Miss Whittier is also a former student in that same department.

Otto Kowalke Will Retire From Post At State University

Kaukauna — Otto L. Kowalke, one of the first students to graduate from Kaukauna High school back in the nineties, is retiring from his position as head of the department of chemical engineering at the University of Wisconsin this year to devote his time to teaching and research, according to word received here today.

Kowalke has been on the university faculty for 33 years and chairman of the department for 27 years. Three years ago he was honored at Kaukauna at the June rally of the high school alumni association.

Subdivision Sewer Project Progresses

Kaukauna — Construction of the new sewer connecting the Armstrong subdivision with Wisconsin avenue work moved ahead today, with workmen finishing the digging up as far as the subdivision line.

The new sewer is 464 feet long, connects with Wisconsin avenue near the Joseph Wittman residence and extends northward to service 18 lots on a new street which is laid out for the section, and which will be known as Armstrong court. From Wisconsin avenue to the court, the sewer runs through the property of Tom Armstrong.

Work on the project is done by city relief labor.

Post Office Receipts Decline During June

Kaukauna — Receipts for June 1940 at the Kaukauna post office amounted to $1,852.58, a slight decrease from that month of 1939 and about $200 less than May, 1940, according to R. H. McCarty, postmaster.

Receipts for the quarter ended June 30 showed an increase of about $1,000 over the same period of year ago. The amount this year was $12,975.18 as compared with $11,933.59 in 1939.

2,400 Boys, Girls Use Playgrounds in June

Kaukauna — A total of 2,480 boys and girls made use of playground facilities since school closed early in June, according to C. H. Kemp, recreational director.

At the library ground there were 1,690 participants, and at LaFollette park, 790. Miss Lois Wieseler is taking charge of the activities at LaFollette each day from 9 to 11:30 a. m.

Vacation at Home

Kaukauna — Ray McCarty and Timm McCarty, who have been working on a construction job in Pennsylvania, are spending a 2-week vacation at their home here.

Hakbarth Owls	0	3

Kaukauna — Kaukauna Machine company continued its hard hitting pace in the city softball league by belting out 16 hits in a 13 to 1 victory over Combined Locks last night at the library diamond.

Tonight the Kappell Taverns, undefeated and leading the league with five straight wins, will get a test when they face the youthful St. Mary's C.Y.O. team, third place outfit that has lost but one game. A loss for Kappell's will topple them into a tie for first with the persistent machine company.

Sherman Powers pitched for the Machines last night, allowing only one run, a homer by Vanderhoven

Shoots Nine Holes In 31 to Establish Golf Court Record

Kaukauna — Sylvester "Ham" Hopfensperger set a new course record at the Kaukauna golf club Sunday when he shot nine holes in 31, four under the par 35 for the course.

Long recognized as Kaukauna's leading golfer, Hopfensperger proved his championship calibre on the long eighth, when he holed a long putt from the lower terrace to get a birdie 4. He birdied three other holes to set the record. Previous record holders were Everett Leonard, professional and Jack Taylor, greens keeper at Butte des Morts course, Appleton, both with 32's. Leonard set his record last year, and Taylor, about five years ago.

The golf course had a big crowd over the weekend, with more people playing than at any other time since the Memorial day record breaking group for the year.

In the first inning, his team came back to score four runs in the second and kept the game in hand from then on, scoring in every inning. John Bloch led the attack with three hits for three trips to the plate. Steger and De Bruin got two for three, while Dix and Effa each hit two for four.

Bad Weather Cuts Pool, Lock Count

Kaukauna — The cold and the rains of the month of June were not conducive to much swimming by Kaukauna people, records show. A total of 4,198 swimmers disregarded the weather to take their dips in the two authorized places, the Fourth lock and the municipal pool, according to C. H. Kemp, city recreational director.

At the lock there were 1,775 swimmers and at the pool 2,423. Boys, with 1,330, liked the lock better, while girls, with 1,345, had the greater number using the pool. In the Monday women's night 53 used the pool, while 40 men made use of the Thursday night session. Evening sessions are open from 7 to 8:30 o'clock.

The total of 4,198 swimmers is small compared with other years. In 1937 more than 6,000 swam at the lock alone and last year 4,200 used the pool in the month of June.

Labor Group Meets

Kaukauna — Kaukauna Central Labor union met last night at the Legion hall, Oak street, to hear a representative of the Appleton Barbers' organization discuss the proposed organization of a similar group in Kaukauna.

Shooting Fireworks Is Unlawful in City

Kaukauna — Kaukauna people should remember that there is a city ordinance against shooting fireworks in the city limits, James E. McFadden said this morning, and assist police in maintaining a safe Fourth of July here. Parents are especially asked to be sure that children do not acquire illegal fireworks that might be bootlegged into the city.

Student Bands Will Give Mass Concert

Kaukauna — A rehearsal of the Kaukauna High school band at the school last night prepared players for the mass concert to be presented by the combined Kaukauna and Menasha bands at the front of the high school tomorrow night. The program is put on as part of the city's sesquicentennial program this summer. Arrangements were made by C. J. Kriesa, director.

As Television Grows Equipment Becomes Smaller, Lighter

New York — (A) — Television is showing tendencies to expand — that is in all respects except the amount of apparatus required, particularly for outdoor pickups.

For instance, when New York's tele-transmitter, operated by the National Broadcasting Company with the RCA system, went into operation in the spring of last year, two healthy-sized vans were required to carry the equipment to television football and other outdoor events. One had the apparatus to make the camera function, the other carried the transmitter to relay the signal to the main station on the Empire State Building.

Now this all has been reduced to such an extent that only about one-tenth as much material, in weight, is needed. In fact instead of two motor vans, a station wagon or even a limousine can haul the equipment around. What's more, the cost is one-sixth of the other unit.

Wisconsin Bird Lore

BANK SWALLOW

(This is one in a series of articles on Wisconsin birds prepared by the Wisconsin Wildlife Federation and intended for scrapbook use.)

The Bank Swallow is a common summer resident of Wisconsin, nesting throughout the state wherever suitable nesting conditions exist. It nests in colonies, many close together, at the inner end of narrow tunnels and in sand or clay banks. The nest is of grass, straw and feathers. This bird nests all the way from near the tree limit in Alaska and Canada south to the southern part of the United States. For the winter it migrates through Mexico and Central America to Brazil and Peru and occasionally to Argentina.

The Bank Swallow is a small sized bird, dull brown above, white below and with a dark band across the breast.

Its food consists almost entirely of animal matter such as house, crane and other flies, weevils, ants, plant lice, hoppers, dragonflies, May flies, etc.

Girl Possesses 39 Unusual Doll Types

Huntington, W. Va. — (A) — When 13-year-old Betty Graves Mann plays with dolls she has 36 foreign mannequins and three "Americans" to choose from.

The natives are two Sioux Indian dolls, 75 years old, and one made entirely from cornhusks which Betty says is a centenarian.

Betty's grandmother brought back from England tiny king, queen and princess dolls dressed in ermine-trimmed robes, and from Holland a doll whose arms fly up when its feet are pressed.

Others are Swiss, Italian, French (two bought from a convent and dressed as nuns), Russian—and so across Europe. Betty now is collecting Mexican and Indian dolls.

State A. A. U. Swimming Meet Scheduled at Neenah on Aug. 4

Neenah — The Wisconsin Amateur Athletic Union swimming meet will be held at Neenah's new $100,000 swimming pool Sunday afternoon, Aug. 4, it was announced today by Paul Stacker, manager.

The meet has been sanctioned by the Wisconsin A. A. U. swimming committee, headed by Herman Kluge, Milwaukee, and it will be the state finals, the winners qualifying for competition in the national A. A. U. meet.

The Wisconsin meet has been divided between Neenah and Milwaukee, and nine events will be held here, the other nine being held at Milwaukee. The Milwaukee water show will be held Aug. 18 so that competitors in the Neenah tournament will be able to take part in events in the Milwaukee meet.

Events are as follows: men's 50-meter free style, women's 100-meter free style, men's 200-meter free style, women's 400-meter free style, men's 800-meter free style, women's 100-meter backstroke, men's 200-meter breaststroke, women's 1-meter diving, and men's 3-meter diving.

Olympic Tryouts The Neenah A. A. U. meet actually is the first of a series of tryouts for the United States Olympic swimming troupe, it was pointed out. The winners of the events held at Neenah will compete against winners of other state tournaments in the national meet, and those winners earn berths on the Olympic team.

Besides the A. A. U. meet, it is planned to have two clown divers as well as promote canoe tilting contests as added attractions.

The A. A. U. meet will draw the best swimmers in Wisconsin to Neenah. Any Wisconsin person may participate in the event. Local officers are planning to conduct elimination contests by holding a city meet as well as a Fox river valley tournament. These plans, however, are tentative. Entry blanks will be sent by the A. A. U. committee to all cities of the state.

Besides qualifying for the national tournament, winners of the meet will receive medals. Gold medals will be awarded to first place winners in each event, silver medals to second place winners and bronze medals to third place winners.

Second Ward Team Beats Third, 13-12

Menasha — The Second ward kept its hold on second place in the Junior Baseball league Monday afternoon by scoring a 13 to 12 victory over the Third ward Greens. The Third ward is in a tie with the Fourth ward at the bottom of the league standings.

T. Schipperling was the winning pitcher after relieving Imor in the fourth. He allowed five hits and five runs in the rest of the game and walked two. He fanned eight including the last two batters in the ninth inning after Weber doubled and Stierman walked. Imor allowed only one hit but walked nine and hit one to allow seven runs. He fanned six.

E. Calder pitched for the Third ward and allowed nine hits and fanned eight. He walked 11 but nine errors by his teammates kept him in trouble.

The First ward scored one run on two hits in the first inning only to have the Third ward tie without a hit. The Second ward counted five runs on three hits, including a double by Ciske, in the second, added three on two hits in the fourth, one run and one hit in the fifth and one run without a hit in the sixth.

The Third ward counted four runs on four walks, a fielder's choice, and some poor defensive play in the fourth. They added two each in the fifth and sixth and their final run in the seventh. The Second ward scored the winning runs in the eighth inning on two walks and a double by Dorow.

Europe Rearranging Its Economic Setup

Berlin—The continent of Europe is rapidly rearranging itself economically to fit into a new order authorized German sources said today.

As an example they cited the Swedish paper industry, which has just signed an agreement to increase its exports to Germany five-fold.

Almost all the output of the Norwegian fishing, lumber and metal industries is going to Germany, the German sources said, and Finland has agreed to increase her exports to Germany by 75 per cent over the figures for 1938-39.

"Germany buys at stable prices independent of world fluctuations," one spokesman observed.

Consentance Money

MovieLand Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—Turn about is fair play, so having spanked a number of stars for misbehavior during their visits to far-off cities, it's only fair to give credit to one group who left behind them such a spirit of friendliness that many citizens of Albany, Georgia, have written letters praising them.

Fidler—The group included Joe E. Brown, Walter Brennan, John Howard and Jean Cagney, who attended the Albany premiere of "The Biscuit Eater."

According to letters, these players faced a barrage of parades, appearances, barbecues, broadcasts, luncheons and balls without once flinching. They responded willingly to every call and made many friends by their unassuming manner and gracious gestures. I am not concealing these eulogies; I am quoting the letters.

Now Albany isn't a metropolis; it's only a fair-sized city of something less than 20,000—not enough to make or break a star. Brown, Brennan, Howard and Miss Cagney certainly won't jump into the top ten box office favorites by reason of their good behavior there.

But my point is, they built good will in that section for the entire industry. Subsequent reports from Albany theatres indicate that business has been on the upbeat since the visit of the Hollywood players. It's just too bad that their good behavior won't receive as much attention as have the mistakes of other stars whose visits to other cities were not so constructive.

IDOL CHATTER—It must shock a $50-a-month cowhand to learn that Gene Autry gets $500 a day for playing at the same job. Hollywood's favorite motto: "A short life and a merry one." If 20th Century wants a five-bell comedy, why not film the two-year-old gag feud twist: Ty Power and Don Ameche? Wonder how many youngsters could maintain Bill Powell's new nightclub pace? Add shingles who refuse to pose for leg art: Ida Lupino. Photoed with heads afloat, it's practically impossible to tell Rita Hayworth and Ann Sheridan apart. Ad Sigman to suit Johnny Weissmuller.

"It Flouts" Betcha two to one Sonja Henie could best most Hollywood males in a test of strength. Hollywood simile: As difficult as keeping track of Louise Stanley's ex-husbands.

CUFF NOTES: Paulette Goddard is packing duffles for a two-weeks cruise to S. F. on her yacht, Panacea. Unless Madeleine Carroll, stranded in Europe, reports for her "Virginia" lead by the 15th. Paramount will sub Ellen Drew in the role. Mary Howard, who screen-scored as Ann Rutledge in "The Lincoln in Illinois," has been lured by Max Gordon and Harry Goetz for a B-dy stage dramma.

Freddie Bartholomew jaunts to Chicago, come the 10th, for p. a. s. and an airshow. Looks like hearts and flowers for Astrid Allwyn (Robert Kent's ex) and a San Diego Navy flier. No sight more incongruous than immaculately groomed Jeannette MacDonald at the wheel of her new station wagon. Wet's this about cameraman Bill Mellor and crew on "Moon Over Burma" chipping in to finance drama lessons for 22-year-old Patty McCarthy, beautiful secretary to Dot Lamour. The John Howards are training north for a sailing vacation on Puget Sound. Add things I never knew till now: That Jimmy (date 'em all) Stewart is a whiz on the accordion.

OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND

You'll be seeing her soon in the new Warner Bros. picture "Episode," at home of a summer evening in these comfortable and very smart pajamas. The blouse is of banana-colored crepe, and voluminous trousers are sage green. That very becoming turban is merely a strip of banana-colored crepe, wound 'round and 'round.

Value Increases

Denver—Officials who spent $4,000 to cover the dome of Colorado's state capitol building with gold leaf 32 years ago were criticized for "extravagance" but—

The gold, approximately 200 ounces of it, was worth $20 an ounce when placed on the dome, or a total of about $1,400. Now gold is $35 an ounce and so the dome's market value is about $7,000.

It's a book profit, however, for much of the gold leaf has "eroded" or been scratched away by boots of workmen. But the gold never tarnished and seems as bright today as when it was put in place.

He Followed Advice And Got the Job

Galva, Ill.—Five years ago Robert Soderberg, then 17 and a senior at the Galva high school, wrote to Walter P. Chrysler, the auto manufacturer, and asked him how he should go about becoming an automotive designer.

Chrysler replied that he should enroll in a good mechanical school, and if he could graduate in the top ten per cent he should apply to the Chrysler company for a job.

Soderberg received an engineering degree from the University of Illinois this spring. He ranked in the top five per cent of his class and will go to work for Chrysler Aug. 1.

State Defense Work Speeded

Acting WPA Head
Makes Report on Various Projects

Madison—Many projects related to the national defense program have been completed by the works projects administration in Wisconsin and others will be handled expeditiously, Acting Administrator C. W. Anderson said today.

"Since a far greater emphasis is now being placed upon national defense projects, achievements in this direction will increase rapidly during the next few months," he added. "Project personnel will be concentrated upon such work so that it may be completed in the shortest possible time."

Improvements already completed by the WPA in transportation, public buildings and grounds, health and recreational facilities were listed by Anderson in a report to officials in Washington. The projects were undertaken at the request of the war department of the United States army, the Wisconsin national guard and municipalities. The completed projects follow:

Work on Airports
Constructed four new airports and improved eight others.

Constructed one seaplane base and improved another; constructed three seaplane ramps and one reconstructed.

Eighteen miles of drainage ditch dug and 17 miles of pipe laid in and around airports.

Five airport hangars built and three improved; two airport administration buildings constructed.

One airway beacon and 164 boundary lights installed and 516 airway markers painted on roofs of large buildings.

A nearly 20 miles of highways and 13,000 foot railway system built.

Twenty buildings for use in housing men in training constructed and 51 armories and similar structures reconstructed.

Constructed a water pumping station with a capacity of 1,728,000 gallons a day, two sewage treatment plants of 410,000 gallons daily, and a 400 gallon reservoir and three septic tanks at airport sites.

Constructed a 3,360 square foot swimming pool and improved another.

It's Just One More Election to Pierre Citizens This Fall

Pierre, S. D.—Voters in this South Dakota capital will be skilful ballot markers when November rolls around. They already have been to the polls five times this year.

A regular election was called to fill a vacant mayorship. Commissioner Roberts resigned and Commissioner Griffin kept his job to campaign. Griffin was elected mayor, but so many candidates tried for Roberts' commissionership that Election No. 2 was held to break the ties.

In Election No. 3, city voters participated in state primaries. No. 4 was called when Commissioner Oldaker resigned to become police chief and Griffin resigned to be sworn as mayor. Several tried for Griffin's commissionership. One filed for Oldaker's and was elected. But again none won a majority in the Griffin race, and No. 5 was held as a run-off.

Just to keep in trim, many residents here will be voting in the state Republican and Democratic conventions and in some of the half dozen fraternal conventions here between now and November.

Slights Swiss Hero, Gets Into Trouble

Zurich, Switzerland—Ladislav, a Hungarian who tried to fool Swiss manufacturers by pretending to represent the Soviet importing bureau, might have succeeded with his get-rich-quick scheme had he known what William Tell meant to a patriotic Swiss.

A necktie manufacturer sent him samples bearing the Swiss hero's effigy. Barta wrote back haughtily stating that in Soviet Russia people were not interested in William Tell.

That made the necktie manufacturer so angry that he got private detectives to investigate Barta, who soon was turned over to Zurich police as a fraud and was sentenced to ten months in prison.

Historic Hotel Razed

Los Angeles—The old Bella Union hotel, one of California's most famed hostilities even before the gold rush of 1849, has been torn down. In its nearly a century of existence, the Bella Union entertained many notables, and in 1874 proudly advertised: "All Spring Beds."

Double Trouble

Dudley, Conservation Pioneer, Dies at Merrill

Merrill—Henry Dudley, 91, Lincoln county pioneer, woodsman and conservationist who first planted trout fingerlings in the Prairie river 50 years ago, died yesterday. ## Cancer Spreads From Straining

Violent Coughing
Also Sends Germs
Through the Body

Washington—Violent coughing and muscle straining may spread cancer and infections throughout the body.

Dr. Oscar V. Batson of Philadelphia reported today in the Annals of Surgery, official journal of the American College of Surgeons, the discovery that apparently localized cancers or abscesses may actually be thrown—even to the brain—through the veins of the spine.

It is well known, he said, that cancer often spreads rapidly through the lymphatic glands to many parts of the body. However, some cancers have been known to spread mysteriously without involving the lymph glands.

In solving this riddle, the newest approach to the adequate treatment of cancer, the Philadelphia physician injected a metallic solution into men and monkeys through an external pelvic vein and studied its progress upward through the veins of the spinal cord and into other parts of the body.

It was thus possible, he reported, to duplicate the spread of cancer and to follow its progress by continuous x-ray pictures.

By artificial compresses on the body of a monkey, it was also found that the act of straining or coughing forces blood out of the body cavities and into the veins of the spine. Injections of the solution into the breast were found to travel quickly into the brain.

Eatin' Apple Pie Is Good Way to Keep Doctor Away

Blacksburg, Va.—When you eat a slab of that delectable and popular American favorite, apple pie, you increase your consumption of Vitamin C—the anti-scurvy substance which is a good general conditioner.

Experiments at the Virginia Tech home economics department showed that apples cooked into pie retain more of their Vitamin C content than apples cooked any other way: 28 per cent for pie, as compared to 22 per cent for fried apples and 16 and 13 per cent, respectively, for apple sauce and baked apples.

Although cooking by any method causes a loss of the greater part of the Vitamin C, Miss Mary J. Satorius found that this loss can be lowered by soaking the fruit in a two per cent salt water solution overnight before it is cooked.

Apples contain less Vitamin C than many other fruits, but provide a good source when eaten in relatively large amounts. Miss Satorius found that apples lose a significant amount of Vitamin C at ordinary cold storage temperature of 40 degrees, but incur little or no loss if stored at 32 degrees.

Pegler Gets a Suggestion For Purging Guild of Reds

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—The editor of a little monthly journal of a post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars offers a suggestion by which the Americans in the newspaper guild could vote the communist bowlegged and, by force of numbers, permanently exclude them from any office above that of latrine orderly which, no doubt, would be allotted to them as a political courtesy.

His proposal is that every veteran's publication in the country—and the V.F.W. has 32 in New York alone—should qualify every man who is eligible under the shyster interpretation of the rules of eligibility adopted by the communists for their own purposes and needle the bolos with their own medicine.

The communists, it should be remembered, devised a scheme of parachuting into the guild disguised as newspaper men with the object of controlling the guild and eventually of controlling the entire American press through the power of the closed shop. Any communist or bleeding-heart weekly or improvised fake publication, including foreign language pamphlets and even mimeographed sheets, may qualify editors, contributors and hang-arounders under the communist plan. There is a slight violation of the guild constitution in this procedure but the communists have established the precedent for their own benefit and the rescue squads of Americans could insist on the same privilege.

The guild does not enforce guild conditions on communist publications. It campaigns only against American daily papers having assets and financial responsibility which, at very worst, pay better than the best communist papers, do not inspect the political beliefs of their employees and provide legitimate living jobs for genuine newspaper workers.

The red nucleus of voting strength resides in publications having little or no physical property and no responsibility. Mock-journalists of the communist bloc thus may exert a voting strength under party discipline far greater than that of a larger group of Americans on daily papers.

The V.F.W. post in question has 532 members who could qualify as journalists under the communists' pretext by contributing an occasional column or paragraph to their post publication. They would be fake journalists, to be sure, but no less legitimate than many communists.

Better a Farce Than a Trojan Horse.
To extend the idea, the American Legion, the Elks, Moose, Eagles and Owls, the Shriners and Knights of Columbus, the Liberty and Anti-Saloon leagues, the D. A. R. and thousands of other "legions," thanks to the communists, groups which print occasional bulletins or magazines could qualify, be so classified. "The major part countless fulltime, part time and occasional or purely nominal journalists' own precedent would permit this grim burlesque of the original than a Trojan horse."

The guild constitution admits "any person gainfully employed in and devoting the major part of his time to an editorial, business, circulation, promotion or advertising department, or kindred groups of employees, of a news publication." A dollar a year is gain, any activity is employment, and the guild's interpretation of the term "news publication" is such that a typewritten sheet may let us or magazines could qualify, be so classified. "The major part countless fulltime, part time and occasional or purely nominal journalists' own precedent would permit this grim burlesque of the original than a Trojan horse."

Unfortunately, although the communists' own precedent would permit this grim burlesque of the original than a Trojan horse.

The guild might better be a farce than a Trojan horse.

Willkie Enjoys Show and His Admirers in New York Theater

New York—Mr. Willkie hasn't been to the theater all winter. Mrs. Willkie explained, "and tonight he said, 'I'd just like to relax for a little while and see 'Life With Father.'"

"I told him we'd be mobbed," she continued, "but he just said, 'people won't notice us at all.'"

People noticed them in a big way. Two hundred were packed in the theater lobby, waiting, when the Willkies, their son Phillip, a college friend, Carl Touhey, and Oren Root, Jr., who aided in the Willkie boom, arrived just before the curtain went up.

Willkie plowed through the crowd, greeting everybody cheerily, and stopped at the box office to pose for photographers while Mrs. Willkie ducked ahead.

As they walked to their seats, the audience stood up and cheered, and when the lights went down, there were shouts: "We Want Willkie!"

The Republican nominee settled back in his seat and laughed heartily at the dramatization of Clarence Day's chronicle of family life in the '90's.

At the intermission, Willkie walked out to the lobby for a cigarette and a deluge of "I just want to shake your hand," "I'm a friend of Senator McNary's," and "may I have your autograph?"—which he willingly scribbled.

After the show it took him 10 minutes to get through the lobby, shaking hands and signing autographs all the way, to his taxi and home to bed.

Sell America to the Americans, Zeidler Asks

Chicago—Mayor Carl Zeidler of Milwaukee told a meeting of furniture salesmen last night that "totalitarianism" is the "nightmare and black plague of the twentieth century."

"Our biggest job is to sell America to the Americans," he said. "We're appalled by the fact that in four of five continents the life of self determination has been snuffed out. We're an island of democracy in a sea of dictatorship."

Zeidler spoke before the National Wholesale Furniture Salesmen's association at a meeting held in connection with the national home furnishings show.

Three on a Horse

Fairbairn, S. D.—The Cottonwood school bus this year was a motorcycle which carried the entire student body on one trip. William March, a ninth grader, drove. From home he brought brother Gerald, a sixth grader, and his sisters, Emma Jean, a fifth grade and Rose, a first grader. Enroute they picked up Lester White, seventh grader, who hiked a half mile from his ranch to meet them.

Smear Attack Gets Underway Against Willkie

Nominee Is Ready, Willing to Debate Issue of Utilities

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—The New Deal is pondering just what strategy to apply in opposing Wendell Willkie, Republican nominee for the presidency. Some of the impetuous ones who are not at all aware of the rapidly changing trends of public opinion are in favor of a smear campaign and have started it already. Others are more cautious, as for instance Senator Lucas of Illinois, who issued through the Democratic national committee a well-considered attack on alleged inconsistencies as between the selection of Willkie and McNary. There wasn't anything personal or unethical about it.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, ardent New Dealer, who has the reputation of being a great progressive, jumped into the fray, however, and began calling names. This might have been popular a few years ago, but the Nebraska senator will discover it only makes votes now for the man sought to be smeared.

There's a simple reason for this. The public knows more about the electric power issue than it did when Senator Norris announced his support of the TVA, and the people are a bit fed up on attacks that merely impugn other people's motives and integrity without proof.

If the New Deal wants to go to bat on the utility issue it will doubtless find Wendell Willkie ready and eager to debate it. Nothing probably would please him more than to go up and down the country telling the people of the millions of dollars that have been wasted on the TVA and of the financial juggling in the TVA which has brought criticism from the office of the comptroller-general of the United States.

Then there is the question of loss of taxes to the states and municipalities in the TVA area and the vast subsidies paid by taxpayers in the north for the benefit of persons and interests in the south—all of this has never really been opened up on the stump because the American people have never before been ready to listen, and there has been nobody on the anti-TVA side who could get a hearing.

Today the American people are ready to listen to what Wendell Willkie says and he can go back over the whole history of the way the TVA was put over on the taxpayers and get a hearing such as he never could have had before. Mr. Willkie may welcome the chance not only to get into the TVA matter, but to tell the public of the black-mail tactics that have been used by the New Deal to break down private industry and force it to sell electric light properties under the threat of annihilation of the private owners.

The whole story of what the utilities did in financial pyramiding before 1933 which incidentally was before Mr. Willkie was made president of his company—does not compare in public damage to what has been done to the economic system since 1933 by the use of governmental power and money. As for national defenses and unpreparedness, it can be proved that the administration spent more time and effort worrying about electric light companies than it did about building airplanes and tanks and naval vessels.

Then there's the story of how literally the expenditure of billions of dollars of construction by private industry for the utilities was prevented by the action of the New Dealers, and thus can easily be translated into statistics showing the loss in payrolls and jobs occasioned by a fight that was largely political and demagogic.

If the New Dealers want the issue of the campaign to be government versus private ownership, they will find in Wendell Willkie a man who knows the vulnerable points of their schemes of state socialism as well as any man in America. The New Deal itself has revealed in recent months what happens when a utility company comes within its political clutches—fat jobs are created for the friends of the New Deal. Such jobs are handed around nowadays just as if they were a part of the customary political patronage.

Few men are as well-informed about the New Deal operations as Wendell Willkie, and he can give facts and figures in a debate that can symbolize the entire "wave of resentment" that has swept the business men of all industries in the last few years. For the attack on the utilities, it carried to its logical conclusion means an attack on all forms of business. There is no reason for federal government operation or financing of the business of distributing electricity as there is for operation of the distribution of food or clothing or any other necessities of life.

Nobody in the New Deal can justly accuse Wendell Willkie of any connection with the abuses of utilities and it is a matter of genuine regret that Senator Norris permitted himself to be quoted in a statement endeavoring by implication to attach to Mr. Willkie the errors of other people in the utility industry with whom he had no connection and for whose acts he never had any sympathy.

The utility issue can be introduced without using personalities and the debate can be on a plane of truth and principle. It would be met vigorously by Mr. Willkie and probably make him votes, and if he is successful at the polls it would mean the end of the efforts of the job-seekers to get their clutches on the high-salaried positions of numerous private businesses now closed to them through the avenues of merit, but which they believe can be opened to them through the avenues of politics and huge governmental slush funds.

Public Sides With President On Transfer of U. S. Planes

By Institute of Public Opinion
Princeton, N. J. — President Roosevelt's action a fortnight ago in making more than 300 army and navy planes available to the allies — the subject of bitter dispute in congressional circles — is strongly approved today in a nation-wide survey just completed by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

The survey helps to define what the American people mean by "aid short of war" to the anti-dictatorship powers. Four persons in every five—with definite opinions on the subject—said they favored releasing the planes in question.

The public reaction is all the more important, since in this case congress had no opportunity to pass on the transaction officially. Administration leaders like Senator Key Pittman of Nevada applauded the move to aid England and France, but the president was sharply challenged by Missouri's Senator Bennett Clark and other non-interventionists.

To Senator Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota, the president's action was "getting into war through the back door."

But so strong had sentiment for "aid to the allies" become by the time the survey was conducted that the average American was little disturbed by such warnings. "Volunteers were asked:

"President Roosevelt has taken action making it possible for England and France to buy some airplanes that were being used by our army and navy. Do you approve or disapprove of this action?" The actual vote was:

Approve 80%
Disapprove 20%
The number with no definite opinions on the question was only 7 per cent.

The American public's reaction to the airplane transfer — by which England receives nearly 100 navy "hell-divers" as well as army pursuit ships—is another example of the way Franklin D. Roosevelt has managed to keep public opinion with him on most of his foreign policies.

Despite the opposition of important sections of congress at various times, the average American has agreed with Roosevelt in (1) lifting the arms embargo last fall, (2) increasing the strength of the army, navy and air forces, (3) giving substantial aid "short of war" to the allies and (4) drawing a defense line around the western hemisphere.

Up to the present time, furthermore, the Republicans have had little success in tagging President Roosevelt and his party as the "war party," Institute surveys have shown.

Republicans Approve
Today's survey shows that a large majority of rank-and-file Republicans, as well as Democrats, approve the president's plane transfer. The party vote was:

Disapprove approve
85% 15%
76 24
Democrats
Republicans

Section by section the vote shows the widest approval in the South (87%), the East (82%) and the Far West (85%), with the smallest in the Great Lakes States (72%) and the Middle West (77%). "We should help in every possible way without becoming involved ourselves," is the typical refrain of voters in every section. Two other thoughts frequently expressed are that Roosevelt's action makes it possible to "get rid of our older planes" and "to develop our new aviation program."

Dissenters argue that the allied cause already seems "almost lost," or that "it is just the same as becoming a military ally of England and France."

New Surveys
Much of the interviewing in the present survey was conducted before the final collapse of French resistance, and new surveys are being rushed by the Institute to see what effect this capitulation may have had on U. S. desires to aid Britain.

Texas fish hatcheries produced more than 5,000,000 fish last year and the state expects to double production in 1940.
